Ethiopian Troops Drive

BATTLE FOR CITY LOOMS, REPORTS SAY

Two Italian Planes Brought Down with Death for All Occupants

ADDIS ABABA, Nov. 6.—(UP)—An official statement said today that an Italian detachment entered Makale, objective of the present drive on the northern front, late Tuesday and was driven out.

The official announcement said 10 men of a strong reconnoitering patrol were killed when Ethiopian warriors, in a surprise night attack drove the patrol from Makale after it had entered without resistance.

Ethiopian casualties, the announcement said, were two killed and two wounded. The number of Italian wounded was not known, it was said, but four Italian prisoners were taken.

The Italians descended on Makale from the north and found it empty, the report said. They were about to fortify it, and hold it until the main forces could move up, when the Ethiopians surprised them in a night attack, the report said.

It was expected here that the Italian main force might arrive outside Makale tomorrow. The area was said to be a sea of mud because of unexpected rains.

According to intimations here, the Ethiopians intend to let the Italians take the town and essay a strong counter attack later.

A second official announcement admitting the "recent" capture by the Italians of a post in the Webi Shibeli river valley on the southern front, said the Ethiopians retired only for lack of ammunition after outfighting the Italians.

During the engagement, it was said, the Ethiopians brought down two Italian airplanes. Four occupants of one plane were killed in the crash, it was said, and the second, it hit the ground.

One machine gunner in the fight, according to the communique, inflicted great losses until the 400 rounds of ammunition allotted him was exhausted and then retired only after removing the breech of his gun, rendering it useless to the Italians. He was one of several decorated.

GASOLINE PRICES TAKE JUMP IN ROME

ROME, Nov. 6.—(UP)—Gasoline prices rose nearly 30 per cent today and many who normally use motor cars walked or used motor buses or street cars.

Taxicab fares were increased because of the rise.

It was understood that the increase was due to a government desire to reduce consumption and decrease imports, and at the same time maintain reserves.

A royal decree today increased tariffs on benzine and mineral oils by from 20 to 40 per cent.

COUNTY ZONING ORDINANCE PRESENTED TO SUPERVISORS

THE FRUIT of two years labor by the county planning commission, the completed county zoning ordinance, officially designated as a "districting plan," was presented to the county supervisors by the planners late yesterday, and will be the subject of a public hearing November 26 at 10 a. m. before the board acts upon it.

The ordinance, as described in report of the planning commission which accompanied it, represents a master plan, under which various unincorporated localities of the county can procure zoning regulations to fit their own needs. It already provides such a districting plan for the South Laguna area, which petitioned for such regulation and thereby provides the legal means for preparation and passage of the zoning ordinance.

Other zoning movements in the county would be carried out in the form of amendments of the "master" ordinance, it was explained.

The ordinance provides for types of "districts" adapted to the "bal-

DEATH DIMS NUPTIAL SPLENDOR

Because of her father's death, the elaborate wedding today of Lady Alice Montagu-Douglas-Scott to the Duke of Gloucester, third son of King George and Queen Mary, was drastically curtailed. Instead of being married in Westminster Abbey amid splendor that marked the nuptials of the Duke and Duchess of Kent last year, the young couple said their vows before 100 guests in the royal family's private chapel at Buckingham Palace in London. Lady Alice and the Duke of Gloucester are shown below in recent characteristic poses.

NEW PENALTIES AGAINST ITALY ARE DISCUSSED

GENEVA, Nov. 6.—(UP)—The League of Nations general staff began consideration today of new penalties against Italy which would shut down her industries and immobilize her war machine if imposed successfully.

It is proposed to try to deprive Italy of oil, coal, iron and steel. To make the imposition possible it would be necessary to obtain the cooperation of non-league states, and particularly of the United States and Germany.

Entail Embargoes

Active cooperation would entail embargoes against these materials, not classed directly as war materials but necessary for the conduct of a war by Italy. As ambitious as the plan seemed, many league members hoped it might be effected through the passive cooperation of part or all of the non-league states.

Passive cooperation would mean the adoption by non-league states of a rationing system by which their producers and manufacturers could not profit by Italy's war on Ethiopia.

By a rationing system, exports would continue but on a peace time scale which would prevent the re-export of the products named from countries to which they were exported by producers, and would limit Italy directly to a

Duke of Gloucester Marries at Private Ceremony in Palace

LONDON, Nov. 6.—(UP)—The Duke of Gloucester, King George's third son, and Lady Alice Montagu-Douglas-Scott, daughter of the late Duke of Buccleuch and Queensberry, were married today in a simple ceremony by the archbishop of Canterbury in the royal chapel of Buckingham Palace.

The death of the bride's father, October 19, caused cancellation of plans for an elaborate state ceremony at Westminster Abbey with 2000 guests.

Because of the change in plan, only members of the families, Queen Maud of Norway and former King George of Greece attended the service in the chapel which seats but 200 people.

Eight Bridesmaids

The eight bridesmaids included the little royal princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose. The Duke was supported by his brothers, the Prince of Wales and Duke of Kent. The Duke of Gloucester wore the uniform of a major of the 10th Hussars in which he is an officer. His brothers also wore military uniform.

The brief wedding ceremony began at 11:30 a. m. It had been shortened because the smallness of the chapel would not permit a big choir for the full musical ceremony. It was entirely private.

The ceremony was performed without a hitch and in the shortest possible time.

Crowds Present

The bride, accompanied by her brother, the new Duke of Buccleuch, in the uniform of a captain of the Grenadier Guards, drove down Constitution Hill to the palace in a closed semi-state carriage, drawn by two bays and escorted by eight mounted police.

SACRAMENTO CITY COUNCIL RETURNED

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Nov. 6.—(UP)—Sacramento today had retained its city council, approved four out of nine bond issues and heard about the arrest of a candidate who was accused of showing obscene pictures to high school girls.

The bond issues approved during the municipal election will provide for improvement of the water and storm sewage systems, installation of a city fire alarm system and modernization of the "T" street bridge over the Sacramento river.

L. H. Slater, 70, candidate for the city council, was jailed on complaint of school authorities and parents who charged that he showed lewd pictures to high school girls who visited his lunch room. He denied the charge.

New Deal Is Given Jolt In New York

Republicans Capture Control of Lower House from Democrats

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(UP)—Prestige of the New Deal democracy suffered on the eastern seaboard today from election reverses in New York and Pennsylvania. Kentucky began a ballot count that may reveal Democratic prospects in the border states in 1936.

New York state Republicans scored from Democrats the control of the lower legislative house, Philadelphia voters elected a Republican mayor, S. David Wilson, after a campaign in which Republicans insisted that the Roosevelt New Deal was an important issue.

Democrats minimize national significance of New York and Pennsylvania returns and Republicans magnify their portents as the nation enters a presidential year.

Cheer Republicans

But it is indisputable that the election news will cheer G. O. P. workers through all the states north of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi and perhaps west of that stream. Democratic success would have been discouraging correspondingly to the national Republican leaders who are laboring to rebuild the party and to the lesser leaders, the men and women who make up the front line of any political battle array.

New Jersey faintly seconded the two more important eastern returns by increasing Republican control of the state legislature.

ORANGE COUNTY AWARDED SIXTH PLACE AT FAIR

ORANGE county's agricultural and horticultural exhibit in the California State building at the California Pacific International Exposition was awarded sixth place and $500 cash prize in the contest sponsored by the Twenty-second Agricultural District association.

Twenty-three California counties and scores of individual exhibitors participated in the event, in which more than $15,000 in cash prizes was awarded.

The point basis on which the exhibits were judged, included variety, artistic arrangement and educational value.

Lolla Mead is director of the Orange County exhibit and supervised selection and arrangement of the winning display.

The exhibits were appraised strictly as combined agricultural, floricultural and horticultural displays.

In addition to major cash awards to the winning county exhibits, several hundred dollars in smaller amounts went to winners in the lower brackets, which included outdoor exhibits of flowers, cacti, and succulents.

SHEARER STOPS OFF IN LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6.—(UP)—William J. Shearer, 74, absconding California cashier, arrived in Los Angeles today with District Attorney Otis Babcock, of Sacramento, enroute to the state capital to stand trial on embezzlement charges.

Babcock brought Shearer to California from Fort Worth, Texas, where the aged official was arrested after he was missing several weeks. He confessed he was responsible for the loss of $24,000 in state money. The shortage on Shearer's books was discovered when State Treasurer Charles Johnson ordered him to take a vacation.

Shearer refused to comment as he left a train here. He was turned over to Tom McNarry, investigator for District Attorney Buron Fitts, and taken to the district attorney's office.

BERKELEY STUDENT DIES OF INJURIES

KING CITY, Cal., Nov. 6.—(UP)—William Collins, 21, Richmond, associate editor of the Daily Californian at the University of California, died early today at King City Community hospital from injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

Collins was one of the five youths injured when their machine overturned here on the return trip from the U. C. L. A.—California football game Saturday.

He suffered a fractured skull and was unconscious when taken to the hospital after the accident late Sunday. Surgeons performed an emergency operation to relieve the pressure on his skull late yesterday but he failed to rally.

The others, three of them students, were discharged from the hospital Monday after treatment for contusions and lacerations.

CLASSES TO BE HELD ON THREE DAYS

All-electric School Opened by Mayor Rowland; Prizes Offered

WITH A capacity crowd in attendance, the great Register all-electric cooking school about which women have been talking for weeks, opened at the American Legion hall this afternoon.

From the time the big crowd was welcomed by Mayor Fred C. Rowland until the last prize was awarded, there was never a dull moment. Miss Pauline Edwards, charming and competent home

ROOSEVELT NOT ALARMED OVER G. O. P. VICTORY

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 6.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today viewed the New York state election returns as sustaining the state as a whole and made light of Republican claims that the result could be interpreted as a repudiation of the New Deal.

Mr. Roosevelt refrained from direct comment on the election, in which Republicans regained control of the state assembly although failing to get a majority of the total popular vote, but his views were interpreted by close friends who went over the results with him.

The Philadelphia result Mr. Roosevelt was understood to look upon as a "technical" victory for his party, inasmuch as the Democratic mayoralty candidate was defeated by only 47,000 votes. In 1932 Mr. Roosevelt lost Philadelphia by more than 100,000 votes.

To support their arguments, presidential friends did some research work on past performances both in New York state and Pennsylvania.

They cited that in 1928, when Mr. Roosevelt won his first term as governor by a 25,000 vote margin, the Democratic assembly plurality was but 50,000. Two years later, they said, the Democratic assembly plurality had advanced to slightly under half a

HEARST WILL NOT MOVE TO FLORIDA

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Nov. 6.—(UP)—William Randolph Hearst, publisher, today declined the invitation of Gov. Dave Sholtz to live in Florida after the publisher had indicated high taxes in California would force him to spend less time in that state.

Hearst declined the Florida invitation in a four page letter in which he complimented California on its good fiscal condition.

"You people in Florida have not been stampeded by demagogues or deluded by empty promises and are to be highly praised for sound American common sense and good business judgment," Hearst wrote.

"It will not take us long to learn we cannot live off the rich; we cannot live off overtaxed industry; cannot live off each other; cannot live off government," the publisher added.

NEW PLAN TO SAVE COUNTY $3,000,000

Citizens Committee Acts Swiftly; Leaders Favor Reduced Costs

By KENNETH ADAMS

MEMBERS OF the Citizens' Water committee, which previously had supported the expensive flood control program turned down by voters October 4, moved swiftly today to start circulation of petitions asking the board of supervisors to call an election on a water plan embodying the principles of a modified and less expensive program presented to the board of supervisors by the Orange County Water district yesterday afternoon.

From a reliable source, The Register learned that this modified program which is being considered would effect a saving of around $3,000,000 to Orange county over the more expensive plan, and that construction costs and the expense of purchasing rights of way would be considerably reduced. It was reported that the saving in construction costs alone would amount to $5,000,000, making the entire program cost but around $8,000,000 as compared with the previous estimate of $12,900,000 for the big program.

Following a meeting of the water district board yesterday when directors expressed individual approval of a modified plan, a committee from the water board met with the supervisors and received permission to present the plan to the supervisors' board of consulting engineers. Flood Control Engineer M. N. Thompson and Director Roy Browning of the water board are planning to leave tomorrow night for San Francisco to meet with the consulting board on the modified program.

Hostile Criticism

During the "huddle" between the water board committee and the supervisors yesterday afternoon, it was reported, Supervisors John Mitchell and N. B. West expressed hostile criticism of a modified program and seemed not to want any change in the expensive program which voters defeated. Other members of the board were reported to favor any reasonable program which is feasible and practical. In

NYA Gives Work To 870 Youths Here

Approval Given Projects at Conference Held in Santa Ana Tuesday

PLANS FOR the start of projects under the National Youth Administration in Orange county to give employment to 870 youths between the ages of 16 and 25 years were undertaken yesterday at meetings between Sigurd Nylander, assistant to the director of N. Y. A., and local sponsors.

Approximately 129 will be employed on a project in the Santa Ana City schools, 45 on city recreational projects, and 32 in the county school office, Nylander said. The three projects have been given the approval of Superintendent of Schools Frank Henderson, Charles Weber, of the city recreational project, and Itay Adkinson, county school superintendent.

At a meeting with City Councilmen Joe Smith and Ernest Layton, Mayor Fred Rowland, W. H. Penn, of the fire department, Chief of Police Floyd Howard and Lloyd Banks, city auditor, preliminary arrangements for the start of other projects were outlined yesterday afternoon.

Nylander explained that the projects, while entirely financed by the NYA, will be directed by the local WPA offices. Sponsoring agencies contribute nothing to the cost of the projects, merely providing supervision for the workers.

All eligible young people, from families on relief, are urged to register with the National Reemployment Service immediately, in order to participate in the program. Activities of the program comprise relief work, job guidance and placement, educational aid, youth community activities and apprenticeship.

TEST VALIDITY OF CIVIL SERVICE LAW

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 6.—(UP)—A case testing validity of the state's new civil service law was before the California supreme court today after presentation of arguments by opposing attorneys.

The case was submitted after Norris Burke, Sacramento attorney, presented arguments in favor of Anthony J. Kennedy, former secretary of the state board of dental examiners.

Kennedy claims that the civil service law gave all temporary state employees civil service status on December 20, 1934, and that removal after that date could be accomplished only by means of formal charges.

HURRICANE NEARS GULF OF MEXICO

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 6.—(UP)—The erratic gulf hurricane was located at 8:30 a. m. 275 miles southeast of Port Eads at the mouth of the Mississippi, according to an advisory bulletin issued by the weather bureau.

The hurricane was described as moving slowly westward or west-northwestward. Storm warnings were posted from Cedar Keys to Carabelle, Fla., and all vessels were cautioned against venturing into central and east gulf waters.

FOUR MORE WPA PROJECTS IN ORANGE COUNTY ARE APPROVED

FOUR MORE Works Progress Administration projects for Orange county have been approved by district WPA offices in San Diego, it was announced today by District Director George White. The four projects aggregate $74,279 and when finally confirmed at San Francisco will give employment to 176 persons.

One of the projects is for the construction of 1500 lineal feet of concrete conduit with diversion wiler, etc., and 5290 feet of earthen channel for a storm drain near Alameda street and Santiago avenue to care for storm water north-east of El Modena. This project will prevent soil erosion and flood damage to highly improved citrus orchards. The cost is $24,351 and 77 men will be employed.

A Santa Ana project for park and parkway improvements at Municipal Bowl was approved, calling for the installation of 7500 feet of sprinkling system, painting fences, grandstand, bandstand, etc., and for tree surgery to remove 100 diseased trees and planting 1500

It will employ 32 persons and cost about $19,688.

A statistical and research project to secure information from all urban centers of Orange county concerning the housing needs of families was approved. This is a continuation of a former SERRA project and will employ 32 persons and cost $14,296.

Construction of 10,855 lineal feet of castiron water mains, construction of an extension to the pump-house shed, all on various streets of Buena Park, is provided for in the fourth project approved. The project will give better fire protection service and serve a new district now without water service. It will employ 45 men at a cost of $13,336.

NEW PLAN TO SAVE COUNTY THREE MILLION

view of the ever-mounting sentiment for a modified and less expensive program, the board of supervisors is expected to call an election on the less expensive plan.

Water leaders of the county, many of whom supported the more expensive plan at the October 4 election because it was the only plan offered and others who since have swung their support behind the modified program, are firm in the belief that the more expensive plan would have absolutely no chance of being approved by the voters.

Secretary C. A. Palmer of the Orange County Water District board today expressed his favor of a modified plan, declaring that the old plan could not be put over. Director W. C. Matherman of the district, one of the most ardent supporters of the old plan, now favors the modified program, which he stated is a good plan, needing but a few minor changes. Many other prominent water leaders feel the same way.

Following the meeting between the water district directors and the supervisors yesterday, directors of the water district met with the Citizens' Water committee, when it was decided to go ahead and print and circulate petitions asking the county to call an election on a program providing for the minimum needs of the county which the supervisors feel is feasible and practical and which will retain "for our use a major portion of the federal grant." Volunteer workers will circulate 200 copies of the petition.

It was reported at the Citizens' Water committee that a modified plan "containing real promise" was being discussed by the board of supervisors. Members of the board previously had stated they would favor another election provided there is a public expression showing a wide desire to test the project again at the polls.

The decision reached yesterday includes all voters in the county as possible signers, but the movement will be centered particularly in Santa Ana. Members of the committee expressed the belief that a modified plan, if properly drawn to "provide for the minimum needs of the county" will find strong favor in the county seat where the former plan failed to show strength.

Time Essential

Copies of the petitions are to be placed in public places; they are to be carried from house to house, and will be placed at prominent street corners. Because of the shortness of time for reaching a decision on calling the election, it was stated, the committee made its plans to complete the canvass and deliver the petitions to the board of supervisors next Tuesday.

A statement issued by the committee following the meeting yesterday said while details of the modified plan were not made available, W. H. Spurgeon, chairman of the committee, said he is confident the board of supervisors will offer the voters no plan which will fail to provide for the minimum needs of the county. The statement said any plan to win the approval of the board of supervisors must first pass the county's board of consulting engineers, headed by Prof. B. A. Etcheverry of Berkeley.

"Many voters are already asking for details of the new plan and so are members of the committee," Spurgeon said today. "We would like very much to have the details, but they can come later. The important thing at this moment is to let the board of supervisors know the people want another chance to make use of this federal grant."

Reduces Acreage

The Register has learned from a most reliable source that the modified plan lowers the size of the dam proposed for the Santa Ana river to 70 feet and reduces the acres of land needed for rights of way by about 4000 acres.

Five million dollars would be saved in the construction cost, and Orange county's share would be but around $3,500,000 instead of more than six and a half million dollars as was the case in the more expensive plan. With a considerable reduction in the costs of the rights-of-way, Orange county's cost would be brought down even lower. It was reported that the modified program would reduce costs of purchase of rights of way by 80 per cent.

The modified plan as now drawn up, it was reported, calls for the elimination of the Aliso and Trabuco dams and possibly one or two other small dams. Complete flood protection for the Fullerton area would be assured, it was stated. The Brea canyon dam and conduit are left in the modified program, it was reported.

Proponents of the modified plan today were certain that the developments within the past 24 hours means a unification of water interests of the county behind one modified program, which would provide for flood protection needs of the county at the least possible cost to the county so that the county in the future could raise funds for importation of water.

28 STATES GIVEN BIG RELIEF SUMS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(UP)—Comptroller-General John R. McCarty today gave 28 state work-relief administrators $9,108,694 to start employment projects from a $142,385,369 list.

His action authorized the sectional directors of the $4,000,000,000 job program to select an average of one out of every 15 projects to get underway as the New Deal speeded its efforts to end the dole Dec. 1.

The approvals, in project values, included: $1,548,987 for California. McCarty's $142,385,369 in project approvals, one of the largest lists since the program began last April 8, boosted to $2,701,944,173 the amount he has passed for Harry L. Hopkins' Works Progress administration.

GIVEN JAIL TERM FOR DRUNK DRIVING

Fred Husted, Santa Ana man, arrested over the weekend on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, was sentenced to serve 75 days in the county jail in lieu of a fine of $150 assessed against him in the Santa Ana police court yesterday.

He pleaded guilty to the charge. Husted was arrested near First and Sycamore streets.

Scientists are continually searching for means of diluting radium and making it work by proxy, due to its excessive rarity.

BUSINESS TRENDS SHOWN

An examination of figures compiled by Business Week and presented in the chart below by Wm. Cavalier & Co., reveals that when results of the first half of 1935 are compared with those of the same period of last year, business in California is recovering at a faster rate than that of the United States as a whole.

ibility "and will work no hardship upon any property owner who has pride in Orange county, or any impulse to deal fairly and justly with his neighbor," said the county planning commission report.

The ordinance designates all unincorporated territory of the county as an "unclassified district," in which any use of land not otherwise prohibited by law is permitted, except that certain types of objectionable nuisance industries are forbidden within 500 feet of any park or school. Class A county road, subdivided lands restricted to residential use, or any of the several estate or residence districts established in the plan.

A minimum building site of 6000 square feet is established for dwellings in the unclassified district. Permits are not required for accessory or incidental buildings other than dwellings.

The various districts to be established within the general unclassified district include:

In combination with the two types of commercial and two types of industrial districts specified, commercial buildings and outdoor advertising can, through this provision, be concentrated along through the crowd massed about the entrance to the palace. Lady Alice waved a tiny white-gloved hand to the crowd.

The crowds cheered members of the royal family as they arrived. They were particularly enthusiastic in their applause for the Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, who waved.

King George wore the uniform of a field marshal. The Prince of Wales was in uniform of the Welsh Guards and the Duke of York in the uniform of the Scots Guard.

Two of the smallest of the eight bridesmaids — Princess Margaret Rose and Miss Ann Hawkins, the bride's cousin, carried the bride's train.

Royal Guests

Among the guests were the Crown Prince of Sweden and Mrs. Stanley Baldwin, wife of the prime minister.

The duke's death caused cancellation of plans for a pageant unmatched in many years of weddings.

Many thousands of dollars were lost because of the change in plan. Insurance companies paid out some $100,000 on policies guarding against any such contingency.

Lady Alice, descendant of families that have made Scots history and with the blood of the Duke of Monmouth, illegitimate son of King Charles II in her veins, is 34. The Duke is 35.

Her gown was of traditional white, but an "off" shade. She had a mass of tulle round her head instead of a lace veil because the family veil, worn by brides for many generations, was lost.

NEW DEAL IS GIVEN JOLT IN NEW YORK

Obscured by the more spectacular Philadelphia contest was a statewide poll in which Pennsylvania preferred a Republican to a Democrat as Superior court judge. The Democrats made a fight for that office. They hoped by winning it to remove the last remnants of Republican power in the state government.

Reports that New York Democratic leaders blamed some of their troubles on popular dissatisfaction with the administration of relief caused politicians to wonder whether the New Deal would encounter serious hazards of that nature during the presidential campaign next year.

In Kentucky, faced by rebellion within the Democratic party, A. B. (Happy) Chandler, its nominee for governor, developed a "support-me-and-the-president" campaign to counteract defection. Governor Ruby Laffoon, who also is Democratic national committeeman for Kentucky, bolted Chandler to support Judge King Swope, Republican nominee.

A prohibition vote of national significance was a Kentucky political highlight. Drys massed to defeat repeal of Kentucky's banded constitutional amendment.

Postmaster General James A. Farley countered in New York with a statement that the collective Democratic vote yesterday was 500,000 greater than the collective Republican vote. He said if the New Deal must be considered an issue in New York state then the returns showed a majority in its favor.

But popular opinion through the nation is likely to accept Republican seizure of the New York state assembly as evidence of Democratic weakness in the state which casts 47 votes in the presidential electoral college, more than any other.

peace time import. This would deprive Italy of any of these products from league members directly or indirectly and thus would keep producers in non-league states from profiting by Italy's war on Ethiopia.

An economic sub-committee yesterday approved a resolution recommending that oil, coal, iron and steel be denied to Italy "as soon as conditions necessary to render this extension effective shall have been realized."

If the United States and Germany, particularly, cannot be persuaded to put an embargo on the products as war materials, or ration their export so as not to directly to defeat an embargo by league states, the proposal will not be practicable.

PROGRAM HELD BY MEMBERS OF GUILD

ORANGE, Nov. 6.—Mrs. Dorothy Ferrin had charge of the monthly meeting of the Bertha Epley guild last night, the program topic being "In Areas of Attitude in Action."

Mrs. Goldie Robinson gave a talk on various races of the world and the Rev. Franklin H. Minck told of his recent visit to the Mexican Christian church and institute in Texas. Readings were given by Billy McCracken and Ellen Winters.

The musical program included Negro and Indian numbers sung by Mrs. Jean Des Larzes, accompanied by Mrs. Allan Dunlap, and a duet, "Ivory Palaces," sung by Miss Soledad Mandujau and Miss Tibbels Soto, accompanied by Miss Isabelle Duran.

Mrs. Dora Rice presided at the business session, at which time it was decided to prepare a box at the next meeting to send to the Mexican institute. Mrs. Blanche Kogler's group will be in charge of the meeting. Announcement was made of the convention of Christian churches to be held in Fullerton November 14.

Visitors included Mrs. E. Bradley, Mrs. L. Phillips, Mrs. H. Cantrell, Mrs. Roy Will, Miss Lydia Escabosa, Miss Mandujau, Miss Soto, Miss Martha Haven and E. Soto.

Sayings Of Will Rogers

There is lots of Reds in this country, but you would be surprised the amount of Whites when the real showdown comes.

A good deal has happened to everybody in the last few years. No more happens to one person than to another. Some things look bigger but they are no bigger than the things that look little that happen to the other fellow.

We get pretty excited over politics and pretty soon it's all over and we settle down to cussing the guy we just elected. It just seems like we can't get a man that can take care of all of us after he gets in office.

I don't know how good a governor anybody makes. The ones you give a job say you make a good one and the ones you didn't say you are terrible.

I endorsed chewing gum one time and almost liked to had to take up chewing tobacco to win my "Fans" back again. Nothing can get you in wrong quicker than an endorsement. I even got in wrong one time endorsing the Democratic party.

NYA TO GIVE WORK TO 870 YOUTHS HERE

These activities, Nylander said, will result in two types of benefits, cash and service. Workers on the Santa Ana and Orange county projects will receive from $16 to $25 monthly.

Under the national NYA program cash benefits result from the following activities:

1. Educational aid—school and college aid.

2. Work relief—youth projects and some WPA projects.

All young people between 16 and 26 years of age are eligible for the following service activities of the NYA, it was explained:

1. Job guidance and placement.

2. Youth community activities.

3. Apprenticeship—through the state committee on apprentice training.

Nylander returned to San Francisco last night, announcing that he will be back in Santa Ana next week to complete details for the start of the program. Projects are being sent to Washington for federal approval immediately, and are expected back shortly, as it is hoped to get the program under way in the near future.

STONE AGE CAVE FOUND

million. It was virtually sustained in 1931, 1932 and 1933, was slightly larger in the landslide year of 1934 and appears to be nearly 600,000 this year.

In general, the president was represented as feeling the election carried out perfectly normal trends, with local issues and the human equation having a strong effect.

To show that local issues meant something, it was pointed out here that the normal number of "off year" Democratic mayors were selected and again in rock-ribbed Republican Hyde Park where a popular local Democrat was elected to the board of supervisors, the first member of his party to hold that office in 40 years.

The particularly heavy vote in Philadelphia was ascribed to a complete political change that is bringing about a realignment in both major parties. The young voters, it was said, are coming to the fore and they are being bound less and less by strict party ties.

As for New York City, where Republican-fusionist candidates were toppled over, White House friends took it to mean that the metropolis was running true to past Democratic performances and that the vote itself was not significant.

Meanwhile, the president awaited the outcome of the Kentucky elections where A. B. (Happy) Chandler ran for governor on the Democratic ticket against Judge King Swope, Republican. The New Deal was an issue in that state, with Chandler also confronted with a split in his own party.

economist, conducted the instruction from the stage where a complete electrical kitchen had been set up.

Handsome electric ranges and other modern electrical equipment were placed at convenient spots for use as Miss Edwards prepared luscious and seasonal good things to eat.

The session this afternoon disclosed scores of new recipes which are the acme of simplicity yet having the dignity and flavor of elaborate preparations. These recipes appear elsewhere in the night's Register. Their ease of preparation was largely due to the use of electrical appliances furnished by Harwood's, Westinghouse dealers, which represent the supreme attainment of cooking simplicity.

Miss Edwards pointed out that many cooking methods long regarded as necessary are eliminated by use of an electric range. Double-boiler cooking is discarded, she said, since the measured heat of an electric range enables housewives to melt chocolate, make puddings, sauces and custards in ordinary sauce pans on top of the range. Searing and basting oven-cooked meats is unnecessary with an electric range, she said.

The electric range, it was pointed out, also simplifies cooking by doing away with large quantities of water in vegetable cooking. Vegetables are steamed on surface units in ordinary pans, and are more tasty, healthy and appetizing in appearance.

Doors of the cooking school swung open at 1 o'clock this afternoon and the large auditorium was filled when the school started at 2 o'clock. Arrangements were being made today to take care of an even greater crowd tomorrow as word of the marvelous recipes and instruction in modern cookery spreads around to housewives who are interested in placing fine foods on the table at a minimum cost.

A WORD OF COMFORT

A deserter in a battle assumes that his perjury does little harm, yet the example he sets brings confusion to the entire army and breaks down the morale which insures victory.
Amid your grief and loneliness, recognize that the hardness of your duty increases your responsibility and multiplies your influence instead of excusing you from them.
During the darkest hours, live your faith to the God of love. His sun even now shines in your heart.

MAN SERIOUSLY ILL CARED FOR BY SEAL FUNDS

Yesterday John Doe, 33-year-old transient laborer, was desperately sick, alone and helpless. Today he is in the county hospital, where he is being cared for with all the resources of modern medicine, through the money given the Orange County Tuberculosis association through the sale of Christmas seals, and the voluntary support of the anti-tuberculosis movement given by thousands throughout the county.

Near death's door after several violent lung hemorrhages, the unidentified man stumbled into the First National Bank building, asking for the Red Cross. He was rejected to the two-bar white station, whose two-bar white cross often is mistaken for the better known red cross.

Mrs. Edna Smith, office attendant of the association, took a look at the man, recognized his condition, and sent immediately for Dr. Waldo Wehrly, clinic physician for the association. Examination revealed that he was suffering from an advanced stage of tuberculosis, and he was immediately sent to the hospital.

His history, Dr. Wehrly said, clearly indicates the benefit of tuberculosis education, an outstanding aim of the association. From 1925 to 1929, John Doe shared a room with a younger friend, who had a "cold that hung on and on." In 1929 John Doe's friend suffered a hemorrhage and died, and John Doe moved on, looking for work and eating when he could. Several weeks ago his cold also got worse, burst into bloody paroxysms of coughing. Since then he has been trying to reach Santa Ana, where he felt he could get help.

Yesterday a kindly motorist picked him up and carried him to the city, and advised him to see the Red Cross. He found instead the tuberculosis association. Today he is receiving every possible attention.

If he had been educated to the menace of tuberculosis, Dr. Wehrly stated, he would have had an examination in 1929, after his friend had died, and the disease might have been checked at once.

Confessions Reported In Arson Cases

Two Mexicans, who are asserted to have confessed that they wanted to see a fire, were today being held in the county jail on arson charges, following their arrest last night by Fire Marshal E. C. Gates and Frank Corey.

In Justice Kenneth Morrison's court, shortly before noon they were arraigned on two counts of arson, their preliminary examinations set for November 18, and bail of $5000 each asked, which was not made.

According to Gates, the men, Marco Mendoza, 19, of 1823 West Eighth street, and John Perez, 21, of 517 Fairlawn avenue, set fire to the Newcomb Feed company's building at 1802 West Fifth street on May 14, when a fire loss of $1300 was reported, $850 to the building and $440 to the contents.

On June 8 the same two men, according to Gates, set fire to a haystack owned by L. L. Marchant of 2701 West First street, causing a loss of $400.

Both men have signed confessions, fire authorities declared. Both said they were drunk at the time and wanted to see a fire.

SELF-HELP IS SUBJECT FOR RELIEF GROUP

Considerable interest in the production-for-use plan which the State Emergency Relief Commission is planning to inaugurate in Orange county and several other counties in the state, was expressed at a meeting of the Orange county SERRA committee yesterday afternoon.

It is estimated by leaders in the cooperative organizations here that the program would entail an expenditure of about $1,300,000 and adding about 8000 persons in Orange county.

The plan proposes to extend the production end of the scheme and to attempt a profit from the sale of materials produced by self-help cooperatives, which originated in this county.

William Rudulph, pioneer leader in cooperatives here, was called into consultation by state officials on the plan.

Victor Schock, state ERA representative in Orange county, discussed the proposal with members of the local SERRA committee yesterday.

The committee also discussed obtaining an additional $15,000 from the county relief bond fund to continue direct relief aid here.

Director Terrance H. Halloran reported on case load figures and other activities of the SERRA.

Arguments On Right To Sue Given

Attorneys today continued their argument before Superior Judge G. K. Scovel as to the right of the Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles, to sue Charles C. Chapman, of Fullerton, and other stockholders of the Santa Ysabel Land company, for $1,134,265, representing defaulted bonds of the Hotel Alexandria corporation of Los Angeles.

Frank C. Drumm, of defense counsel, spent yesterday in presenting a demurrer to the bank's complaint, objecting to the introduction of testimony before the court on the general ground that the complaint was insufficient and did not state a cause of action.

The defense argued specifically that the banks complaint did not allege that the security for the defaulted bonds had been exhausted, before the effort was made to obtain a deficiency judgment against stockholders of the Santa Ysabel Land company, which had assumed the obligations of the bonds from the Hotel Alexandria corporation.

Today, Attorney R. F. Prince, of Los Angeles, one of the bank's battery of counsel in the case, was engaged in his reply to Drumm, assisted occasionally by Attorney S. M. Reinhaus, of Santa Ana.

Prince and Reinhaus argued that such allegations as mentioned by the defense were not necessary to the complaint, because the liability of the stockholders of the Santa Ysabel company was entirely independent of the liability of that company itself, or the liability of its predecessor, the Hotel Alexandria corporation.

Numerous court decisions were cited by both sides, including one opinion rendered by Justice Emerson J. Marks, of the fourth district of appeals, former superior court judge here.

DUPELX VOTING

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Seer Farley is supposed to have made a novel personal diagnosis of the political situation for President Roosevelt prior to the elections. His scouts are supposed to have reported that the country is against a considerable portion of the New Deal, but not equally against Mr. Roosevelt.

That is the Literary Digest preliminary trend poll may have been nearly accurate in sensing that the voters are roughly 3 to 2 against some parts of the New Deal program. But the Farley contention is that Mr. Roosevelt's personal following is such that, if he had been running Tuesday against no one in particular, the national result would have been 3 to 2 in his favor.

Specifically, the Farley boys expected to suffer losses in New York and Pennsylvania Tuesday but believed they could have carried the states if Mr. Roosevelt had been running.

In other words, the consoling official New Deal inner viewpoint is that the country is now enigmatically in a duplex voting humor.

CALM

This is a ponderous thought, if nothing else. It may sound, off-hand, like an enigmatic advance excuse for some bad news which Mr. Farley was expecting. At the same time, there can be no doubt that the foremost New Deal politicians really believe it.

The fact is a number of congressmen tried it last session, but were pushed into reluctant acceptance of most of the New Deal recommendations. You may be certain that whatever understanding exists among them now is purely personal and unofficial.

Also, don't forget that White House prestige is higher in Congress in campaign years.

CONSIDERATIONS

The influential Republican crowd here seems to like Colonel Knox. He has attended some unreported luncheons lately with men of national reputation and appears to have impressed them. What they are saying to each other is that he is energetic, strong-willed and sound. (This is not the downtown financial crowd, but the midtown business authorities.)

For one very strong reason, they are not inclined to favor Governor Landon of Kansas. They suspect him of being a prohibitionist.

No other Republicans seem to have been considered seriously, especially not Senator Borah.

LINES

A private survey of state election laws has been made by a well known Republican figure to show the feasibility of trying to organize a coalition ticket against the New Deal. It indicates that the coalition ticket probably could not even get on the ballot in ten states. That means the end of the movement.

Also, the idea of nominating Colonel Lindbergh has died a natural unnoted death. It is probable that someone here will start a movement for Babe Ruth next, but not much can be expected from either.

Political lines are getting back on the old double-track, Democrat and Republican system, where they were sure to go from the start.

SAFETY

Bankers may be interested to learn that Congressman Steagall, successful champion of the Federal Deposit Insurance company law, keeps his money in his Alabama home town bank, which is not insured.

Likewise it explains why there has been a lack of political perturbation on high lately.

HOOVER

Mr. Hoover has not yet weakened to the demands (largely from his adversaries) that he get on the '36 horse or get off.

Contrary to general reports, he will not make known his intentions in his speech here ten days hence. The speech will be in the general tone of his Oakland address recently. It will make specific indictments against the New Deal on specific points.

All of which indicates that Mr. Hoover still knows how to obtain the widest possible advertising for his viewpoint. His remarks will continue to be on the front page. If he ever renounces the G. O. P. leadership, you may look for him on the stock market page, or farther back.

PROMPTING

Both diplomatic authorities in this country have word that the British are sending two more military observers into Ethiopia. If you think they are going there merely for observation, you are too credulous to be running around loose. Top military men have suspected that the excellent Ethiopian defense tactics from the start were conceived in British minds, although they have never been able to find evidence to prove it.

TRAFFIC COPS

Democrats are buzzing among themselves already about taking advantage of Mr. Farley's duplex voting situation to stop the New Deal at the next session of Congress.

In fact, the word among them is that a sufficient number of Democratic congressmen have already agreed on such a course. They are to stand against any more four billion dollar appropriations, extreme social legislation, etc. They are to halt the New Deal in its present tracks.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

SUSPICIOUS
When the holding company bill was finally enacted last summer most utility leaders privately expected to register with the Securities Exchange commission when the time came. They figured—from the commission's attitude then—that they could expect a reasonably broad interpretation of Section Eleven (the death sentence substitute), so why not string along and see what would happen? This impression was strengthened at the first session between the commission and a group of utility chiefs. But in the past month there has been a subtle change in the power people's attitude and it now appears probable that very few of the utility companies will register.

This change traces to a newly-awakened mistrust of the commission's intentions—which in turn derives from two recent developments. One is that Commissioner Matthews publicly and Chairman Landis privately have expressed ideas about the interpretation of Section Eleven which virtually kill off hope that any big holding group would be permitted to survive no matter how provably free from abuse. Utility men are a bit puzzled that Landis and Matthews should have sounded off along this line when they are plainly so eager to ring up as many registrations as possible.

The second moth in the molasses is the government's attitude on the Baltimore test suit. All along the commission has insisted it welcomes a constitutional showdown. In the Baltimore case it has openly charged collusion between plaintiff and defendant to have the holding company act outlaws and complaints it has had no opportunity to defend the law directly. Utility leaders insist this is absolute bunk. They claim that if the government really wants to stop the alleged collusion and get the kind of test it says it desires, it can become a party to a suit whenever it cares to on five minutes' notice. Yet it has made no effort to do so—and this makes them suspicious of the commission's sincerity.

BARRATRY

New Dealers have shifted their denunciation of the so-called "interests" to corporation lawyers. They blame almost every attack against their pet schemes on the bar rather than on their clients—bankers, processors, utility chiefs, etc.

Under their breath they charge that prominent lawyers have stimulated these actions and drummed up clients, thus reversing the general practice. In legal terminology this amounts to "barratry," a serious offense. New Dealers will move for a showdown once and for all before the ethics committee of the American Bar association on November 17. It will turn out then that several high-placed lawyers lodged protests against their colleagues.

The major indictment, now in the committee's hands, alleges that the 88 American Liberty league lawyers could not render an unbiased opinion on New Deal laws. Most of them, the accusers point out, had previously accepted huge retainers for having prejudged the New Deal adversely. What many miss is that the game is to discredit, if possible, certain lawyers who will argue against Rooseveltian experiments before the Supreme court through the winter. Lawyers, as a class, are to be "put on the spot."

DIPLOMACY

Benito Mussolini may wake up some day to discover that his Ethiopian venture has inflicted losses which are now whittling away quietly at his markets.

Within a few months our reciprocal trade treaty with Sweden has boosted exports of American fruits and vegetables—canned and fresh—to that country. Sweden's purchases here compete directly with Italian products. Meantime Cordell Hull is prodding Paris to close a similar bargain while Mussolini is looking toward Addis Ababa. France offers another market for our goods that will displace Italian produce. In return, sharp English traders may get larger quotas for wines and liquors that Italy would otherwise sell us.

The sanctions which European nations slap on Italian goods may mean sales for Uncle Sam. That's a form of dollar diplomacy which F. D. R. discussed with friends when he was governor of New York.

RAILS

The question of government ownership of the railroads may flare up acutely sooner than most people expect. Railroad labor and capital are mobilizing for trench warfare over the issue, with the administration as a disinterested referee.

All agree that the next few years—possibly 1936—may tell the story. The RFC's railroad map shows that one-third of the mileage is in receivership today, that another third might have to give up the ghost unless 1936 brings a sharp and steady improvement. Should freight shipments drop in 1936, with another large crop of bankruptcies, the demand for federalization may easily become irresistible.

Behind official curtains there is a merry battle over the question. RFC Chairman Jones favors maintenance of the roads as private, going concerns. He was even willing to lend money to save the New Haven. But IOC liberals—Eastman, Mahaffie, Meyer—felt the time had come for a showdown. Their refusal to approve Jones' New Haven advance, insiders say, has intensified strife over the issue of public ownership and probably brought it to a head.

AMBITIOUS

New Dealers have a new answer for Hugh Johnson's strange behavior. They say that he is running for the presidency—in his own mind.

That's how they explain the general's inconsistency in damning everybody and everything in the administration and his vocal support of F. D. R. They say he wants to build a backfire against the administration without losing the backing of the President's admirers. At the proper time they expect him to adjust his sights to bracket the White House.

Privately his friendly enemies at Washington attribute Johnson's course to two strangely contrasted individuals—"Robbie" and "Bernie" Baruch. They suspect that "Robbie," as she did when he was NRA chieftain, feeds his vanity by telling him what a great guy he is—presidential calibre. They hear that his old sponsor, Mr. Baruch, would not object if the general's philippics commended him to the folks who might have voted for Huey Long.

NOTES

The two most rapidly expanding agencies in Washington just now are the National Labor Relations board and the National Bituminous Coal commission—they have commandeered office space and are looking for more. . . . Justice McReynolds, of the U. S. Supreme court, may have to move—his apartment house has been taken over by the government for offices. . . . The G. O. P. national committee is hoping upon work-relief and public-works people for indulgence in politics, notwithstanding F. D. R.'s instructions to state directors to keep politics out.

VULNERABLE

Financial sharps say that the warning uttered at the investment bankers' convention against the overpricing of bonds was timely. Several issues offered during the summer were sticky because their underwriters had exaggerated ideas of what investors would be willing to pay. They are now selling below the offering price—which doesn't please the buyers a bit.

The Securities act carries a threat with teeth for this kind of optimism. The sponsors of any issue the goes down are fair game for disgruntled investors who can discover omissions of misstatements in prospectuses as a basis for lawsuits. Moreover if the government should reverse its easy money policy to check inflation—which is quite possible at a later date—bond prices would naturally tend to decline and thus make overpriced issues doubly vulnerable.

CANDOR

A New Yorker who owns a small suburban farm recently wrote to a government official to ask about his status under the potato law. The reply—on department of agriculture stationery—stated flatly that this law would not be enforced.

COMING

On July 24 President Roosevelt signed the Federal Register Act. It permits the government to run and sell a daily newspaper. Money will be granted soon for this purpose. Printing will start in January or February, according to New York sources.

While nothing in the act forecasts official comment, it is probable that there will be "official" statements printed from time to time. The paper will be on sale to the public.

SIDELIGHTS

Tammany abstained from an official welcome for prodigal Jimmy Walker in order to avoid playing into Jim Farley's hands. . . . Canada's tariff war against Japan has hurt her more than it has the Japanese. . . . Mining developments have been the most important factor in Canadian recovery.

Late News From Fullerton And Vicinity

STREET WORK
AUTHORIZED BY CITY COUNCIL

FULLERTON, Nov. 6.—Additional street improvements totaling $16,000 in cost were approved by Fullerton city councilmen Tuesday night on presentation of the program by Herman Hiltcher, city engineer. In addition, councilmen approved the changing of a short strip of street known as Central avenue to College place, since it leads directly to the new Fullerton District Junior college campus.

In connection with the street improvement, Hiltcher announced that the supervisors have granted the city of county gas tax money, $5,500 of which the city last night asked $2000 to complete the Basque bridge and surface Nicholas avenue from Commonwealth to Malvern. During the past biennium Fullerton has had grants totalling $12,000 from county gas tax funds, according to Hiltcher. Supervisor Leroy said Lyon is directly responsible for these grants.

State gas tax money will be used to build a new bridge over the barranca on Nicholas, near Malvern, at a cost of $12,000. Of this, $9000 will be WPA project funds in labor, and the city will provide $3000 of the amount from the state tax funds.

Councilmen were puzzled on how to handle their two-hour parking law on North Pomona avenue when Mrs. R. Harris, beauty parlor operator, complained that tagging cars of her patrons, who must stay at least four hours to have work finished, was hurting her business.

The council voted to share expenses of the State League of Municipalities in investigating public utilities operation prior to a

MENACE OF CANNED ORANGE
JUICE CITED BY SPEAKERS

PLACENTIA, Nov. 6.—Discussion of canned orange juice and fruit auction markets featured a meeting of 150 orange growers at the Placentia Legion hall last night. The meeting was sponsored by the Valencia Orange Growers' association.

Perry Mathis, of Anaheim, presided. He outlined the purposes of the organization under four headings, first the better distribution of fruit; second, elimination of culls, or use of culls in juice during short crop years; third, control of the juice industry of the profit of the grower, and fourth, investigation of auction markets.

Mathis said these problems should be worked out through a growers' committee of this association and the California Fruit Growers' exchange in co-operation.

"The juice of cull oranges sold to juice plants this year will be on the market next year as a direct competitive product with the short crop of next season," Jack Prizer, manager of the Placentia Orange Growers' association, said. "Orange country and Whittier oranges are in particular demand by juice plants, and this industry belongs to the grower that he may profit by sales and may control the production to protect his fresh fruit."

Prizer suggested that all citrus men co-operate in getting the juice industry and control of cull fruit in the hands of the growers. With the proper co-operation of growers regardless of their sales affiliation, the canned juice menace can be controlled in the next state hearing.

Advertisements for one, two and three year contracts for garbage hauling are to be published and bids opened November 13.

The menace created by crowds blocking traffic on Spadra road on bank nights at the Fox Fullerton theater must be stopped, councilmen agreed, suggesting that the management arrange space for cars behind the theater or nearby.

SAYS AMERICA
MUST LEAD IN PEACE MOVES

FULLERTON, Nov. 6.—The United States must take the initiative in leading the nations of the world to a new deal, Dr. Adamantios Th. Polyzoides declared last night in his discussion of "Sanctions" under the League of Nations at the International Relations Council meeting in the Methodist church.

Dr. Polyzoides, a native of Greece and a naturalized citizen of the United States, is an outstanding journalist, having been editor of the largest Greek daily in United States. He was introduced to Dean W. T. Boyce of Fullerton Junior college, who took the place of S. W. McCulluch, president of the council, who was absent.

"Statesmanship of the first rank is needed to solve the international situation," he said. "The solution will be found in a world gathering of leaders from nations to revise the colonial expansion practice, revise many existing treaties especially the Versailles treaty, balance trade relations between nations and provide a means of heavy emigration from over-populated nations except that of conquest. The United States is the only nation that can lead the world in such a gathering."

"Sanctions used by the League of Nations now are only prolonging the conflict between Ethiopia and Italy which is just what the Ethiopians desire because they are waiting for the rainy season to begin. Then they will be able to do almost what they desire with the Italians."

"A financial sanction is the only one that can be enforced and that, if enforced, will cause Premier Mussolini to withdraw from the

CAR HITS PEDESTRIAN

FULLERTON, Nov. 6.—Clyde Hankins, of 424 East Truslow, suffered slight injuries yesterday as he was walking across Truslow at Spadra when a car driven by R. W. Cariker, of 328 North Marwood, struck him as he was turning east off Spadra. In his report, Cariker said he was blinded by the sun and failed to see Hankins.

EACH CHOSE A JOB THAT HELPS
HIS NEIGHBORS SAVE ON FOOD—
AND FOUND AN OPEN WAY TO SUCCESS

(An actual experience)

This story of the business success two men found in the Safeway family is basically true. The names of the men have been changed to protect the rightful privacy of these Safeway families.

ONE of these men once trudged two miles every day to a country school. The other sold newspapers on a city street corner.

No "pull," nor capital... but both became eager to get ahead in the world. And each landed in the grocery business.

Today Peter Wright and Tom Cooper belong to the same "business family." Each is buying his own home... putting his children through school... giving his family some of life's good things.

Many other young men (and women)—a large percentage from farm homes and small country towns—are making this same sort of progress in the Safeway organization. Opportunity for advancement is great.

The "Saturday boy" may become a salesman, a store or market manager—then supervisor, district manager, division manager, or he may rise to some other executive post.

The careers of Peter Wright and Tom Cooper point out the real opportunity—and reward—in the grocery business today.

YOUR NEIGHBOR who runs a Safeway store has a good job. His yearly earnings average about one-third more than he could receive for work of the same kind outside a family like Safeway.

And he has the very real satisfaction of knowing his job benefits his neighbors as well as himself.

Because his job is to get fine foods from the farms to market with less expense in between. To save you money—and pay back to the farmer a larger share of every dollar spent at his store.

Working alone, your Safeway grocer could not handle so big a job successfully. No one man could do it.

So in the farming districts are skilled Safeway buyers. (They buy whenever possible from farmers' cooperatives, or—where these are not adequately organized—from the farmers themselves.)

Trained shippers, warehousemen, marketing experts and home economists are part of the Safeway family.

By "pooling" their special abilities, these men and women have cut the cost of selling food.

This economy brings you better values—and makes possible a greater return to farmers than they received before the Safeway method was developed.

Another result of the Safeway idea is this: It has opened a new field of opportunity for ambitious young men and women in today's grocery business... Ralph Pringle, Division Manager for Safeway and Pay'n Taker Stores, 1925 East Vernon Avenue, Los Angeles, California.

Quite easily you can tell what your Safeway grocer can save you. Do all your trading at his store for just one month. Keep a record of what you spend.

Then compare your monthly outlay with your total food bills for the previous month. Start this test tomorrow

EPIC DEMOCRATS WILL HOLD FAREWELL PARTY FOR WILLIAM R. HEARST

Residents of all parts of Orange county will be invited to participate in a "Farewell to Hearst" celebration at an early date, according to a resolution adopted by the Santa Ana Epic Democratic club at its meeting this week. The entertainment committee headed by Mrs. Joe Warren was instructed to work out details. The club now occupies headquarters at 1307 West Fourth street.

The plan of the celebration, as discussed, was to make it a humorous occasion, with the general public invited to participate as well as to attend. It is expected that a large hall will be secured for the occasion.

The announcement that William Randolph Hearst may leave California if certain tax regulations are enforced, has been made the basis by the Epic club for the program which as tentatively outlined, will include caricatures, mock addresses, topical songs and other numbers suited to the occasion. The date has not been definitely set, but the celebration is expected to be held during November.

CONCERNS WILL CLOSE ALL DAY NOVEMBER 11

ANAHEIM, Nov. 6.—Anaheim business houses will apparently close all day Armistice day, as result of action taken by Fullerton concerns a week ago when, in courtesy to the day on which Anaheim will be held on the county, they decided universally to close all day.

The matter of Anaheim closing was apparently settled two weeks ago when the Merchants and Manufacturers association voted to close only between 10:30 and 1:30 next Monday. Since action has been taken by Fullerton to the contrary, however, a survey of Anaheim houses has been taken with the result that most of the firms are in favor of closing all day, many of them saying they will close regardless of what the town as a whole does.

The question is expected to be taken up again at the meeting of the Merchants and Manufacturers association tomorrow at the Marigold cafe.

In the meantime it has been found that 14 grocery stores in Anaheim, comprising all of those in the business district, have signed a petition to close, starting the survey also discloses that all hardware stores, all lumber yards, all wholesale oil distributors, all furniture stores, all paint companies, the majority of the cleaning establishments, jewelry stores and other businesses will close regardless of the action of the association.

A few of the barber shops have said they would keep open until 10:30 only. Of course, there will be no school sessions and there will be a holiday for all banks, financial houses, city employees, chamber of commerce and similar groups.

WILL AUCTION 3-COUNTY T. B. HOSPITAL SITE

Orange county's interest in the tri-county tuberculosis sanitarium site in Riverside county, acquired 11 years ago but never utilized, will be auctioned away by the county supervisors at a public sale to the highest bidder December 13 at 11 a. m.

This was decided late yesterday by the board, after Chairman John C. Mitchell had made report of a conference with Riverside and Imperial county supervisors in Riverside yesterday, with reference to disposing of the site.

Yesterday's action, which represents an attempt to salvage "something" from the property, finally stamped the tri-county sanitarium project as an ill-starred venture.

Cost County $19,000
Orange county's 57 per cent interest in the site, which is situated in the highlands near Banning, Riverside county, cost the county a total of $19,000 over the period between 1924 and 1930, when operation of the property as a fruit farm was definitely abandoned. It is known that the board today will be happy to get $1000 for its interest.

The site was purchased at a cost of $7393 to Orange county, with the intention of constructing a sanitarium of 100-bed capacity, to which Orange county would be entitled to 57 beds.

An architect was employed and plans and specifications were prepared. But the project began to look less feasible, and the building was never erected. However, the county had to pay $3385 as its share of the architect's fee.

Meanwhile the property was operated by a caretaker, who looked after the pear orchard there. But there were annual deficits, of which Orange county's share amounted to $3226 over a period of six years. In 1930 the three counties kissed the sanitarium project, the caretaker and the pear trees a final good-bye, and let the orchard go to pot.

Recently, the Riverside county board broached the subject of selling the place. The Orange county board was eagerly receptive. Supervisors estimated that the county might get from $800 to $1500 for its share, more probably $800. Correspondence ensued between the three counties, and a conference was called in Riverside Monday.

Yesterday, the local board decided to sell to the highest bidder.

The peacock's scream can be heard a mile away.

SCHOOL WILL MEAN VICTUAL CRY OF FREEDOM TO COOKS

The Victual Cry of Freedom! To the tired cook—that's what The Register Happy Kitchen culinary classes, which are being conducted by Miss Pauline Edwards for the housewives of Santa Ana starting today will mean—a new emanation from drudgery and doldrums in keeping with modern living and modern methods.

Every housewife should attend these programs designed to heighten mealtime pleasure for the housewife who does all of her own work—and lengthen pre-meal leisure. Things have been happening in the realm of cookery. Menus of today put those of yesterday to impudic shame. Modern methods make cooking and housework an interesting interlude—not an arduous, twenty-four hour job.

There's happiness ahead for the housewife who has learned to take advantage of the practical help offered her on every side," said Miss Edwards. "Imagine the housewife of yesterday spending all day away from home without washing home in a frenzy to prepare a hurried, haphazard meal.

COOKING SCHOOL

IRIS FINE FOODS

No need of that today when food can be made ready for cooking early in the morning—and then forgotten until it is ready to be served. Imagine the delight of arriving home to find dinner all prepared.

"It is not only the duty," Miss Edwards maintains, "it is the real privilege of the modern homemaker to afford herself the extra hours of leisure made available so that she can investigate all the pleasant possibilities of modern living—and preserve her youth and charm for innumerable years."

The idea that the kitchen is a drab place and cooking a bore is fading rapidly into the past. That state of mind is a hangover from fifty years ago, according to Miss Edwards, and has no place in modern living. Because she so earnestly believes in the housewife not only retaining her zest for living but in preserving her youth—her programs are particularly appealing.

Every Santa Ana housewife will indeed have an opportunity to broaden her design for living in attending Miss Edwards' cooking classes. The Register is happy to be able to bring this entertaining feature before the women of Santa Ana.

Woman's Club To Hear Address On Christmas Seals

BUENA PARK, Nov. 6.—Woman's club members will hear Mrs. Florence Holmes in a talk on "Christmas Seals" at the meeting slated for Thursday afternoon at the clubhouse. Mrs. Henry Warren, president, and Mrs. E. W. Thurman and Mrs. Irene Couls will discuss the county federation fall convention held here October 31.

Club activities for the month include a benefit party planned for the evening of November 12 at the Vaudeville theater. Tickets for the affair may be obtained from Mrs. Frank Cooley or any member of her finance committee.

Hostesses for the meeting Thursday will be Mrs. Fred Law, Mrs. J. F. Wagg, Mrs. George Cole, Mrs. T. C. Bittle and Mrs. I. D. Jaynes.

SHOW WOMEN HOW TO LIKE COOKING WORK

Coming to the cooking school?

You really owe it to yourself to attend because these sparkling programs which are conducted by Miss Pauline Edwards, popular and well-known economist, for the three days starting today, will bring before you ways and means of getting more enjoyment from your housework than ever before. You will learn new ways to prepare interesting dishes that are not only good for you—but delicious and tasty.

Every woman who keeps house will be interested in this series of cooking programs. Careful household budgeting, economical marketing, proper diet, and the latest ideas on smart entertaining will be discussed by Miss Edwards.

"Failure to serve varied and interesting menus," said Miss Edwards, "cannot always be attributed to a lack of effort. Often it is due to a lack of imagination and a reluctance to take advantage of little simple rules."

Miss Edwards gives below a few suggestions which the novice in cooking may find helpful. She says: Paper linings in pans will eliminate all difficulty in removing cakes.

Soda with chocolate gives a reddish color. When a mahogany red cake is desired—increase soda in the recipe.

Buttermilk can always be substituted for sour milk—or sweet milk soured by adding vinegar—2 tablespoons to a cup.

Most vegetables should be cooked as quickly as possible and in very little water.

A cake is done when it starts to shrink from the sides of the pan—or when it springs back without leaving an impression when pressed on top.

Housewives will appreciate and enjoy every minute of each session—and those in attendance will find they will receive many valuable ideas. The whole program will be extremely practical and will be brimming with useful ideas capable of immediate application in the average kitchen.

The choke rod will give better service, if it is oiled occasionally.

WOMAN'S PLACE IS IN THE HOME, MISS EDWARDS SAYS

"Woman's place is in the home," declares Miss Pauline Edwards, popular home economist who started her series of Happy Kitchen programs in Santa Ana today, "but the walls of the home are fast receding until they meet the horizon. As the housewife of today sits within the four walls of her home, the magic of modern living reaches out and brings home to her the delightful experience that her homemaking can be. Life for the modern housewife can be very happy."

"What a pleasure it is to be able to serve to your family and your guests attractive and appetizing meals," continued Miss Edwards, "dishes that are not only delicious but that are nutritionally well-balanced. What a joy it is to know that you are able to provide inviting and delicious food and yet that the end of the month will not find the bills screaming extravagance."

"Approach the cooking question earnestly but not laboriously and you'll find it easy to master," advises Miss Edwards. "Choose ingredients with a view to the greatest convenience and the best results. Measure carefully. Use standard measuring cups and spoons. Follow directions explicitly. Care and caution are the surest way to avoid cooking catastrophes."

Miss Edwards lectures and demonstrations will take up every phase of cookery and we know that every housewife in Santa Ana will enjoy these interesting programs. The Register invites you to attend each day in the Legion hall. There will be entertainment and instruction awaiting you, and there is no obligation whatsoever. Come and learn the latest fashions in foods.

Some may argue the need for choosing between home and a ca-

Her increasing popularity on the screen is paralleled, her friends say, by her recognized talent as a culinary expert. In the latter, Miss Chandler frankly gives much credit to her use of the more than 200 fine foods which bear the Iris label, synonymous with "Products of Proven Quality."

"What won me to the Iris standard," says Miss Chandler, "was the uniform goodness of each article. I soon learned I could de-

NEW ELECTRICAL APPLIANCES SPEED UP WORK IN KITCHENS

Electric cookery in theory and practice was discussed and demonstrated today by Miss Pauline Edwards before a large audience of interested women gathered at the Legion hall. The occasion was the first session of the all-electric cooking school which is making this a red-letter week for hundreds of Santa Ana homemakers.

Much progress has been made in the design of electrical equipment for the kitchen, and the significance of this progress was explained by Miss Edwards in an entertaining manner. She stated that electric appliances speed the preparation of delicious food, lessen the time and trouble involved and enable the housewife to go about her work calmly and serenely, secure in the assurance that results will be fine.

"It isn't the preparation of a meal that wears a woman out—it is the uncertainty as to whether it will be cooked properly," Miss Edwards remarked. "She can control the ingredients and the way they are put together, but out-moded kitchen equipment may spoil all her care in preparing the food. That is one important reason why so many women are enthusiastic about cooking on an electric range, because results are always satisfactory, due to the dependability of electric heat and its adaptability to accurate control."

Tested ideas to add glamour and adventure to everyday work were presented by Miss Edwards at today's meeting. Working in the setting of a model kitchen made convenient and attractive by electric equipment, furnished by Harwood, Westinghouse dealers, she gave her demonstrations in an informal and charming manner which completely won the hearts of her hearers.

add lemon juice and rind. Cool. Makes 1 1/2 cups of sauce.

Pineapple Cake

2 1/2 cups of flour, sifted
2 1/2 teaspoons of K. C. baking powder
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-2 cup of Crisco

1 1/2 cups of Holly sugar
1 teaspoon of Iris vanilla
1 cup of Iris crushed pineapple
1-4 cup of Iris pineapple juice
3 egg whites

Method: Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt and sift together three times. Cream Crisco and sugar together thoroughly, add vanilla, then crushed pineapple. Add sifted flour alternately with pineapple juice and stir until smooth. Fold in egg whites, beaten stiff, but not dry and pour into two 8-inch layer cake pans which have been greased and lined with slightly greased paper. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for from 25 to 30 minutes. Cool and put layers together with stiffly whipped cream to which drained crushed pineapple and enough powdered sugar to sweeten has been added.

Frozen Rocky Road
2 cups J. T. Raitt's Dairy milk.
3-4 cup of Ghirardelli's ground chocolate.
2 tablespoons of Holly sugar.
24 marshmallows, chilled and cut into quarters.

1-4 teaspoon of salt.
1 cup of walnuts, coarsely cut.
2 1-2 teaspoons of Iris vanilla.
2 cups of pastry cream, whipped to a custard consistency.

Method—Scald milk in top of double boiler, then add sugar and

EXPERT KNOWS HOW TO STOP "MENU BLUES"

Do you ever have the menu blues? Do you ever feel that your meals are in a rut? Not a few housekeepers confess that one of their greatest problems is trying to retain an interested and enthusiastic attitude regarding household routine—the doing over and over again of the same thing.

For the woman who finds house-keeping a bore or who does not find it easy, the Register Happy Kitchen cooking classes are being conducted by Miss Pauline Edwards prove a real boon for Miss Edwards is fully cognizant of all of the various problems confronting the housewife.

"A woman who has the kind of mind that likes to turn out a finished product," said Miss Edwards naturally tires of a job that involves doing the same task day after day. If a woman thinks in terms of accomplishment, she is naturally unhappy in an occupation that yields no definite results to which she can point. After a meal is eaten, she has nothing to show for her work. She knows she must prepare another in a few hours—and then another—and another. She feels herself in a treadmill."

Women who find themselves in an unhappy or unsatisfied mental attitude regarding their daily chores will find Miss Edwards' lectures a real stimulation for she shows how it is possible for the homemaker in such a negative frame of mind to attack her work in such a way that she can make her mental qualities into assets instead of liabilities.

IDENTIFICATION METHODS TOPIC FOR CLUB TALK

Fingerprinting and identification methods in use today was the topic for discussion at today's meeting of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club, with Russell Lutes, deputy sheriff giving the featured talk.

Lutes prefaced his talk with the statement that the biggest business in the world today, operated at an annual cost of $15,000,000,000, is that of law-breaking and criminal operations. The cost estimate, he said, is figured at $1000 yearly for each criminal.

The speaker then outlined the growth and progress of identification methods, from the most ancient times, when branding and tattooing was used, to the modern criminal identification bureaus. Fingerprinting, he said, is an ancient custom, evidences of its use being found among the archives of China and India.

The first document on fingerprints, he stated, was issued in 1896, and the first classification of prints by Sir Francis Galton, in 1892. Fingerprints were first used in the United States in 1882, he said, and given their first criminal use in Sing Sing in 1903. In 1904 the government took up the practice of identification of criminals by fingerprints in Leavenworth.

Lutes made a plea for the use of fingerprinting and other identification methods for social purposes as well as in fighting crime, stating as an example of the use it could be put to that annually 60,000 unidentified persons die in this country, and a national fingerprint bureau would remove all doubt as to their identities.

The speaker was introduced by Sheriff Logan Jackson, who gave a short introductory talk on the activities of the fingerprint bureau. Deputy Tax Assessor Morris Enderle acted as program chairman.

MAN MISSING FROM WORK FOUND DEAD

Believed to have been stricken with a heart ailment probably last Friday night, A. C. Eppley, 56, resident of Orange, for the past 15 years, was found dead in his bed today, at 352 South Parker street.

The body was discovered by police after Mrs. S. A. Goodwin, Eppley's employer, went to his house to determine why he did not come to work for the past several days. Police climbed through the window of the home to make the discovery.

Deputy Coroner J. B. Castex took charge of the body, moving it to the Shannon Funeral home at Orange. He said there would be no inquest.

Eppley, a carpenter, lived alone since the death of his wife, Bertha, several years ago. He is believed to have had a son residing in San Francisco and efforts were being made by officers to locate him.

CHILD WELFARE DISCUSSED AT P-T. A. MEET

YORBA LINDA, Nov. 6.—"Never instill fear in a child; never cause him in any way to need to respond to a fear impulse," Mrs. Mabel Durgan warned parents yesterday when she talked at the Yorba Linda Parent-Teacher association meeting on "Child Welfare."

Mrs. Durgan, Orange county nurse, who was introduced by Mrs. Sidney L. Chapman, president, said the close relationship of body, mind and soul makes it imperative that happiness and courage be instilled in children.

"This should be an essential in child training," she said. "Never let him fear. And to provide such a surrounding as to let a child develop normally, he should always feel comfortable and secure. It is a terrible mistake to let children in a home feel the depression."

Children of the seventh grade, assisted in chorus work by the sixth and eighth grades, provided the program. The girls' chorus of the upper three grades sang "Cello Lindo" and "Happy Little People." Just Lee Murray played a violin duet, "Spanish Tango" and "Amaryllis," with Mrs. B. M. Selover accompanying at the piano.

Hostesses were seventh grade mothers, Mrs. A. Barnes, Mrs. Ross Johnson and Mrs. C. H. Elchler. Under the P-T. A. sponsorship, the seventh grade students will visit the pony express at Arcadia November 7 and the eighth grade students will visit the planetarium at Griffith park November 15.

ROSSI IS RE-ELECTED IN SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—(UP)—Angelo J. Rossi, genial, gardenia-understudy who followed the late James Rolph, Jr., as mayor of San Francisco, supplanted his predecessor in the record books today.

Rossi rode back into office on the greatest tide of votes ever accorded a mayoralty candidate in the history of San Francisco. He defeated crusading Adolph Uhl, county supervisor and reform candidate, by a margin of 37,536 votes and amassed a total pool of 98,665, a clear majority over the entire field, returns from yesterday's municipal election revealed.

Redfern Mason, united labor's nominee, surprised many persons by running third, with 14,267 votes against Uhl's 59,125. Edward Rainey, former state superintendent of banks and one-time Rolph lieutenant, ran a poor last with 5,957. Harry L. Todd, the other candidate, received 7,329 votes.

LOCAL SCHOOL CLASSES STUDY CURRENT FILMS

"Movies" hold the center of interest in the English classes at Frances Willard Junior High school this month, according to Mrs. M. W. Hollingsworth, chairman of the motion picture committee of the Santa Ana P-T. A.

"With 'Les Miserables' and 'The Last Days of Pompeii' showing this week, and 'The Three Musketeers,' 'Midsummer Night's Dream,' 'The Crusades,' and 'Mutiny on the Bounty' soon to be shown, the teachers and pupils find ample material for the reading, studying, talking and writing which make up the study of English," she said.

"Effectively clinching the fact that visual education is infinitely superior to auditory education, motion picture study has only needed the stimulus of adequate pictures to take its rightful place in the curriculum. For the past year English classes in Willard have given much attention to movie study, but never with such wealth of rich material as now."

Offer Fine Material
"The increasing use on the part of directors of such literary classics as 'Alice in Wonderland,' 'Little Women,' 'The Little Minister,' and 'David Copperfield' has offered the classroom teacher vital material within the pupils' own experience and has helped to make these age-old characters live for the boys and girls."

"The National Council of English Teachers has published study guides for the outstanding films, and the department at Willard sees these as soon as they are ready. They are used in encouraging attendance at these pictures of high standard, and in pointing out the qualities of plot, character development, and stage setting which place them in first rank. With such standards by which to measure, teachers and pupils talk over other pictures, stressing their strong points, and finding and regretting their weak ones. In these informal discussions the teachers are enjoying the use of material in the everyday experience of most of their pupils, and are happy for the opportunity to develop a love for the best that is available in entertainment."

Bulletin Received
"The Motion Picture and the Family," a bulletin which comes monthly to Willard library brings news of film interest and activity all over the United States. Some schools have classes which study only motion pictures, but in most cases movies have only a share of the time, as at Willard.

As each month shows an increase in good material—if the present month is indicative, what treasures are in store for us later—the teachers are grateful to the producers and directors who are aware of the richness of material in the classics, and sufficiently courageous and painstaking to use it well; to our own local managers who make it possible for the boys and girls to see these high quality products; to the National Council of Teachers of English, whose work in providing study guides and in stimulating the use of fine material has been of inestimable value; and to the National Council of Parents and Teachers, whose national, state and local workers have helped to coordinate the contributions of all of these agencies and have given encouragement to those working directly in the schools."

COMTEE NAMED TO REPORT ON COSTA MESA INCORPORATION

COSTA MESA, Nov. 6.—A citizens' committee, consisting of Paul Spencer, S. V. Vinson and Mrs. Reuben Day, will complete an investigation into the possibilities of incorporation of the Costa Mesa area, for report on November 25, it was decided at a mass meeting sponsored last night by the chamber of commerce.

Preliminary facts on the subject were disclosed last night by Thomas E. Pickering, Santa Ana attorney, and Paul Spencer, Costa Mesa, who argued for and against incorporation, respectively.

Spencer raised the question as to whether the people of the district were ready for incorporation, and cited examples of other communities in Southern California which were deriving considerable benefits from not being incorporated.

Pickering discussed legal procedure necessary for the action and answered questions from the floor. Five hundred residents are necessary for incorporation, he stated, and Costa Mesa has a total voting population of 1900. The opinion was expressed that fire and police protection would be more adequate if the city were incorporated.

Some sentiment was expressed from the floor that the district might be better served as a rural district, with taxes distributed among a larger group of freeholders.

No other action than the appointment of the investigating committee was taken.

CUBAN RADIO TO BROADCAST S. A. PROGRAM

Santa Ana will receive considerable publicity in an international broadcast to be made by the Corporation Nacional del Turismo, of Havana, Cuba, it was learned today.

Secretary Howard L. Wood of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce has sent considerable material concerning this city to the broadcasting corporation, which will be used in the broadcast. Date of the broadcast has not been set.

The broadcasting company, in an effort to obtain favorable publicity for Havana, is broadcasting programs for many cities in the United States and Santa Ana has been chosen as one of these. It was stated that Havana hopes to become one of the most popular winter resorts in the world and that this broadcasting activity is part of the plan to popularize the city.

The broadcast will be made on both long and short waves. Secretary Wood said today that he had one of the broadcasts on a short wave band the other night.

CITY COUNCIL GETS PLANS OF NEW BUILDING

LA HABRA, Nov. 6.—Following inspection of plans of the proposed new La Habra library, the city council last night instructed the city engineer to prepare the necessary application for government funds. The plans were presented to the board by L. M. Brewer, chairman of the library board.

Plans call for a building 41 by 75 feet, one story in height and conforming to the architectural style of the new city hall and Memorial building. The cost is estimated at $10,000.

The library building is to be placed on a lot owned by the city for that purpose, which lies between the two buildings already constructed. The proposed building is to be of stucco construction with full tile roof and provides for a basement as well as the main floor. Plans also make allowance for the addition of other rooms when needed. It is estimated that the cost will come under $10,000.

Following inspection of the plans, the council instructed the city engineer to prepare the necessary application for government funds.

Only one bid was received on the insurance of the city motor operating minors in the city from operating the various kinds of skill or chance being maintained in the city. The bid was for $274.46.

A communication was read from the local P-T. A. asking the city council's cooperation in preventing minors in the city from operating the various kinds of skill or chance being maintained in the city. The bid was for $274.46.

Paul Price, of North Lois street, appeared before the council concerning a business license on a second hand and new furniture store, including furniture repair which he is completing opening in La Habra. He was informed that the full amount of $6 covering the period from July 1, 1935, to January 1, 1936, would have to be paid at this time.

W. L. Harwood of the La Habra Home laundry appeared before the council concerning a double business license which has been asked of him since he has been engaged in the dry cleaning business. After much discussion it was decided that in this case where there was really only one business being conducted, under one management and one set of books that only one business license would be asked.

NO TRACE FOUND OF LOST ALASKA PLANE

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Nov. 6.—(UP)—Three veteran Alaskan pilots, their eyes already bloodshot by grueling search of the rugged, snow-laden mountain wilderness between Fairbanks and Dawson, Y. T., for the Northern Air Transport liner, missing since Saturday with Pilot Jack Herman, and five passengers aboard, today impatiently awaited lifting of a fog so they could continue their search.

Heavy fog, which settled over Northern Alaska and the Yukon Territory yesterday afternoon, suspended search for the liner. The plane has not been seen since taking off from Dawson for Fairbanks Saturday noon. It was due to arrive at Fairbanks Saturday evening.

Passengers who boarded the plane with Herman at Dawson were Peter Funk, Walter James, George Gonsens, Ole Oren and Oscar Adams.

hust bank-fingerprints left there by the wounded gangster, who had steadied himself momentarily by pressing his hand against the glass side door just off North Dearborn. They stood by the car for a moment, perfecting their plans.

"Just in case," said Larry, "someone ought to watch the rear. Tony, suppose you slip up that alley—see, it's the third house. If he tries to come out the back way, collar him. You won't know him when you see him, of course, but collar anybody that tries to slip out. Maybe Alf better go with you. The three of us ought to be enough for the front way."

Peters and LaRocco stroled up the alley, to stop nonchalantly at a gate in a dilapidated wooden fence. The other three walked born and went down the sidewalk born and went down the sidewalk to the house.

BASIS GIVEN FOR DEFENSE OF SUIT

With Harry Harlow on the witness stand today, Superior Judge James L. Allen resumed hearing of the suit brought by Harlow against his former partners, R. N. Hockaday and L. E. Phillips, accessory firm, to determine whether Harlow's purpose of entering the garage business would violate his agreement not to engage in competition with his former firm.

Harlow, today testified that the accessory firm did not conduct an automobile repair business, its service being limited to reconditioning of old equipment traded in on new equipment it sold, and the servicing of new equipment after its sale. Its customers were garage men rather than private automobile owners, he said.

The broadcasting company, in an effort to obtain favorable publicity for Havana, is broadcasting programs for many cities in the United States and Santa Ana has been chosen as one of these. It was stated that Havana hopes to become one of the most popular winter resorts in the world and that this broadcasting activity is part of the plan to popularize the city.

CYPRESS GRADE SCHOOL PUPILS PRESENT PLAY

CYPRESS, Nov. 6.—Warren Mendenhall, of Santa Ana, school attendance supervisor, was the speaker at the meeting of the P-T. A. Tuesday afternoon at the school house, talking on his work.

Additional entertainment featured a Thanksgiving play by pupils of Miss Jean Hoyt's fifth grade. Properties for the play, written by the children, were constructed by the class.

A brief business session preceded the program. Preliminary details were arranged for the annual Christmas program. As it is anticipated that reconstruction work on the school will limit indoor space, the program this year will be in the nature of a community sing. Holiday boxes for the children will be provided by the P-T. A. and entertainment by the school.

A P-T. A. membership of 103 was reported. The topic for the December 3 meeting will be "Essentials of a Happy Home," with Mrs. R. W. Marvin, of Anaheim, past president of the fourth district as speaker.

time to see a spare, gray-haired man in a rusty brown dressing gown spinning across the fifth floor, impelled by the force with which Gunderson had thrust at the door.

"The man collided with the wall with a thud and stood leaning against it, looking sideways at them, one arm raised to ward off a blow, one hand in a side pocket of his dressing gown. He had a dull, pasty color to his skin and his eyes had an unpleasant yellowish tinge in the whites; his face was deeply lined from the nostrils to the corners of the mouth, and there was a mixture of fear and defiance in his look.

"Hold it!" he barked warningly. "There'll be trouble—"

"Watch him!" snapped Matthews, and at the same moment Gunderson's hand shot out, seized the man by the forearm and gave him a jerk that spun him across to the other side of the foyer. A small automatic flew out of the hand which had been in the dressing gown pocket. Larry bounced on it, while Gunderson bounced on a rat, slammed him heavily against the wall, and pinned him there with his huge hands.

A lock of gray hair, lank and greasy, fell down over the man's forehead. He glared at his captors, panting.

"A pinch," said Matthews dryly, flipping back a lapel to show his badge. The man looked at it and gave what might have been a sign of relief; and Larry suddenly realized that this renegade doctor probably lived in greater terror of some of the underworld folk who made up his clientele than of the law which he so consistently defied.

He held out the warrant where the man could read it.

"This is a federal pinch," he said. "Want to talk to us here, or downtown?"

"Doc Jeckers read the warrant, then looked up with a contemptuous curl on his lips.

"Talk!" he said scornfully. "You take more'n a piece of paper like that to set me talking."

"Have it your way," said Matthews calmly. "But, brother, you'll be talking and talking plenty before you see the last of us."

"Doc Jeckers gave him a sour look. "Says you," he jeered.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks puny.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

GIVE HINTS TO USERS OF K. C. BAKING POWDER

Always sift flour and KC baking powder together at least three times. The more sifting, the lighter, finer texture the cakes, biscuits, etc. will be.

To mix a cake, first cream butter and sugar thoroughly, then add yolks, if used. Then to this mixture, alternately add moisture and the flour that has been sifted with baking powder and stir until smooth and glossy, adding beaten egg whites after thoroughly mixing.

For cakes, have your oven slow to moderate at first, until the cake is fully risen; then increase the heat, so as to just brown lightly.

When used according to directions, KC baking powder never fails. Manufactured by specialists in the field for 44 years, KC is dependable. The quality is always uniform.

Is Your Stomach a "Gasser"?

Excessive gas in stomach and bowels doesn't necessarily mean that your food is at fault or that you have chronic dyspepsia. In many cases it results from gastric neuroasthenia—a purely nervous condition which disturbs the functional activity of the stomach. Go to your druggist and ask for a package of Baalman's Gas Tablets, which are prepared especially for nervous, gassy stomachs. See how quickly they will relieve excessive gas and all its annoying symptoms, among which are darting pains in the chest, palpitation, anxiety, shortness of breath, drowsiness after eating, sour risings, heartburn and a peculiar gnawing feeling in the stomach. Leading druggists everywhere sell Baalman's Gas Tablets—in the yellow package. Pleasant to take and absolutely harmless. Always on hand at K. B. Drug Co.

SANTA ANA

Population Of Santa Ana At High Mark With 34,256

INCREASE IN WATER METERS SHOWS GAINS

Santa Ana's population when the 1930 census was taken was 30,322. Today it is 34,256 and the proof is in the number of water meters in operation in the city.

There are a total of 8564 water taps in Santa Ana now in operation, paid for, the largest number in the history of the city and the largest number since August, 1931, when the records of the city water department showed 8398 meters working.

Officials of the water department have for years based the population of the city as four persons to every tap in operation. With the present number of meters that would make the population of the city today 34,256.

Increase is Steady

Soon after August, 1931, the number of "stops" coming into the water department increased daily, until the total tap number fell far down. During the past several months there has been a steady increase, as new people came to Santa Ana, until today a new record had been established.

Employees of the water department who have been there for many years, believe the increase will continue. They have seen increases and declines in the average number from month to month, but today the increase seems steady, they declare, and they believe that it will be only a short time until Santa Ana's population will reach 35,000, probably before the first of the year.

PLAN TENNIS GAMES

GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 6.—Miss Carmelita Rous, girls' athletic coach at the high school, announced today that lights will be turned on at the tennis courts November 11 and that women wishing to play are to come to the night gym class on Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. If there are not sufficient members interested in games for next Monday evening, regular tennis matches will commence November 18 at 7 o'clock. Regular night gym classes will be conducted next week Monday and Thursday evenings.

The first game of the season will be played by Miss Crandall's basketball team with Brea Thursday evening, November 7. The team which is composed of members of the adult night class meet at the local gym at 8:30 o'clock.

BRIDGE CLUB MEETS

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Nov. 6.—The Manna Capistrano Bridge club met recently at its usual place, the Old Adobe cafe, for an evening of bridge. Mrs. C. R. Cook won the Franciscan pottery prize for the evening. Later in the evening pumpkin pie and coffee were served in keeping with the Halloween motif.

Tent City Houses Quake Refugees

In temperatures below zero, 600 Helena, Mont., families, left homeless by a series of earth tremors which recently struck the region are facing the winter in a tent city on the outskirts of Helena. Here's a typical family of refugees at Camp Cooney.

To Disburse Calavo Fund To Growers

Calavo growers of this and other communities in the Southland this week will receive a "cooperative marketing dividend" on fruit delivered throughout the past record season, Manager George B. Hodgkin of the Calavo Growers of California announced today.

A total of more than $30,000 is being disbursed to growers, at the rate of three cents per packed flat, or nine cents for each field box of fruit delivered during the 1935 season. This refund, according to Hodgkin, is entirely in addition to the regular monthly pool payments, the revolving fund credits, and to the partial refund made earlier in the year.

The 1935 refund, totaling over $31,000, resulted from the growers operating their own marketing program in such a way that actual costs for the season were materially under those budgeted.

Growers, Hodgkin said, will also receive a statement, along with their "cooperative dividend" checks, summarizing their 1935 fruit deliveries and returns. These statements, giving the grower data on the production and proceeds from his grove, are being mailed two months earlier this year than usual.

Festival Group Names Directors

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 6.—The Festival of Arts association met at the Art Gallery Monday night and elected the following members to serve as directors: L. F. Malow, Virginia Woolley and Mrs. Roy Peacock, two-year terms, and Sherman Paddock and Charles F. Riesner, one-year terms.

Plane Will Drop Ducats To Air Race

It's going to rain in Santa Ana tomorrow.

This is not the weather man's prediction, however. It's a promise from Gladys O'Donnell, famous aviatrix and manager of the Women's Championship Air Races and Stunt Pageant which will be held Sunday and Monday at the Long Beach Municipal Airport.

And the rain is going to be a downpour of tickets from a stunt ship in the sky over Santa Ana. When you see Milo Burcham, noted stunt pilot and sky writer spelling out "air races" tomorrow watch the plane closely and toy balloons with complimentary tickets attached will come floating down for some lucky citizens of this city.

Miss O'Donnell will release the tickets in various sections of Santa Ana. The air races at Long Beach will witness the finish of the first for women pilots some time Sunday afternoon and the program that day and Armistice day will be packed with thrills for air enthusiasts of the Southland, it was stated.

NEW BOOKS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

BY VERA RAMSEY

Many elements have gone into the making of modern Los Angeles. It is of these that Harry Carr writes in his new book "Los Angeles."

The prosperous metropolitan city is built upon several layers of past history. Perhaps the original was a high Indian culture succeeded by others lower in the scale of intelligence. There were the savage, nomadic Shoshones that roamed its hillside. The priests and Spanish knights left their impress as did the Gringo trappers and the great rush of lowland farmers. Now there is a great overlay of the sophisticated from the old cultures of Europe. Such is the curious, romantic background that has produced the unmixt cocktail that Los Angeles is today, with its ingredients that find origin in many lands.

We read of the city's famous characters, past and famous. In the procession pass Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, D. W. Griffith, Cecil De Mille, Mack Sennett, Jesse Lasky and Mack Sennett. Many of the more recent famous men are known personally by the author. He also knows intimately the stories from the past, bringing back to us the old Spanish period.

The growth of industries is an important part of the history of a city. Harry Carr tells of the growth of the orange industry, of the development of water power, and of the rise of the movie industry. Parks and cultural aspects of a city help to give it entity. Los Angeles offers such evidence of this as the Huntington Museum and various musical organizations.

All of the glamour and beauty and strangeness of Los Angeles appears in this book. The famous artist E. H. Suydam has illustrated the book with well known scenes in the past and present of this town. The combined work of the author and artist make an unusually interesting book.

History discloses no woman who combined so much of good and evil into one bewildering and gloriously successful career as did Catherine of Russia. Gina Kaus interprets for us this amazing personality in "Catherine: the Portrait of an Empress."

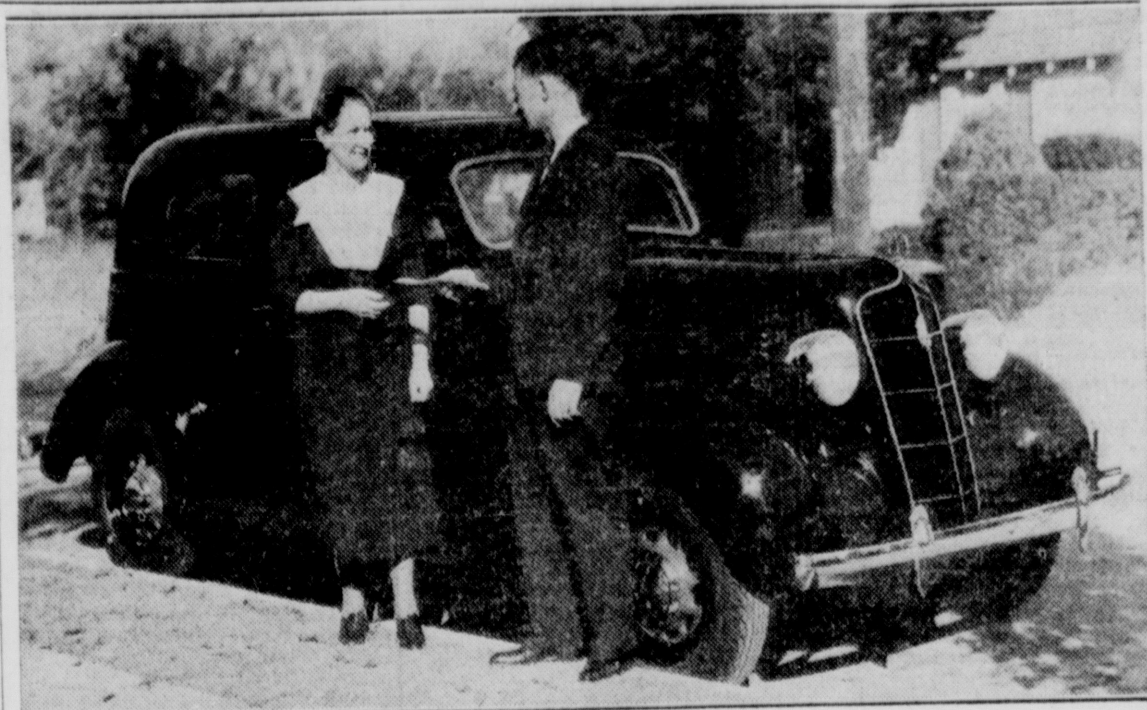

No one rejoiced at the birth of Catherine. Her parents had prayed for a boy. The little girl was soon made to feel the bitterness of their disappointment. She decided, therefore, to become a man. When the opportunity appeared, she decided to become the greatest man in Europe.

Kill Devil Hill, the dune at Kityhawk, N. C., on which a 150-foot monument was erected in 1932 in honor of the Wright brothers, was found to have shifted 400 feet since the Wrights first flew their plane over it 29 years before.

AWARDED NEW AUTOMOBILE

Mrs. James Crawford, of 1322 North Garnsey street, has reason to be as happy as she appears in the picture below, for Exalted Ruler Don Jerome of the Elks lodge is presenting her with title to the new automobile which she won at the Elks charity circus which was staged here.

LINCOLN MADE THANKSGIVING DAY HOLIDAY

By ELEANOR YOUNG ELLIOTT

Just when was the first Thanksgiving day?

Most of us have been reared to the belief that the custom of setting aside one day each year for a general giving of thanks, originated with the Pilgrim Fathers in 1621. But history carries an account of an even earlier service than that.

In August of 1607 a little group of brave spirits known as the Popham colonists, landed on the rocky Atlantic coast near Kennebec, and were so grateful for their safe arrival in the strange new land, that they all gathered for special services with their spiritual leader, Chaplain Seymour.

Colonists Give Thanks

As the quaint old accounts carry the tale, the Popham colonists joined in "Giving God thanks for our happy meeting and safe arrival into the country." And this was actually the first general Thanksgiving day on the soil of the new country.

It was 14 years later, in the fall of 1621 that the Pilgrim celebration came, and then a two-year period elapsed before the next which was held at Plymouth in 1623. As time advanced and the colonies became more firmly established, the rites were observed again and again. But in 1690, those naive Pilgrim Fathers of ours, did without the public expression of thankfulness, supposed to be held at New Haven, because, to quote old accounts once more, they "couldn't peck upon a day!"

No Annual Observance

There was no annual observance for succeeding years, and in the meantime the revolution had come with its far-reaching results, and George Washington, commander-in-chief of the Colonial army, was selected as President of the convention called to draft a constitution for the colonies, freed from the yoke of imperialistic England. This made him the President of these United States, revered in the minds of his people as the Father of His Country.

During his presidency it was that the next public Thanksgiving was called in 1775, and was the first in the holiday's history. This was because of a conflict between Long Island farmers, who had chosen the date of November 11 to drive their cattle in from summer pasture, and Governor Clinton of New York, who had set the same date for general Thanksgiving. The President issued the proclamation to settle the dispute.

Guess Who!

He's a consummate artist when it comes to character parts, and he's a master at makeup, as you see here. Haven't you guessed yet? Well, he's the inimitable George Arliss in a new British movie to be shown soon.

Holiday Suggested

During the reign of Andrew Jackson, inaugurated 1829, his stepson's wife, Sarah York Jackson, a Philadelphia Quakeress who served as mistress of the White House, since Jackson was a childless widower, suggested an observance of the day called by a presidential proclamation. This suggestion on her part earned her the title of "Mother of Thanksgiving day."

But it was not until 1864 that the holiday was made a nationwide observance when President Abraham Lincoln issued the first proclamation fixing it as a national holiday to be observed in every state and territorial possession of the United States. The fourth Thursday in November was selected, as symbolizing the conclusion of harvest and the garnering in of the year's grains, for which praise and thankfulness are accorded the God of the harvest.

LEGION ENTRY IN PARADE AT L. A. PLANNED

Plans are being worked out this week for a local American Legion entry in the Los Angeles Armistice night parade, it was announced today, to march with entries from every section of Los Angeles county, and San Bernardino and Riverside counties. The parade, it was said, promises to be as spectacular an humorous a procession as ever marched in downtown Los Angeles.

Assembling at Temple and Spring streets at 8 o'clock, it will swing past the city hall into Broadway to Tenth street, where it will disband. It will include drum corps, marching bands and drill teams from the American Legion, auxiliary, 40 at S. V. F. W., Cooties, Trench Rats, Serpents and Spanish War veterans. The naval militia will add a colorful unit, and a mile of floats carrying out the theme of the original Armistice day celebration will complete the parade.

Olive street between Fifth and Sixth streets will be roped off from 9 to 11 o'clock, and a 19-piece orchestra, aided by amplifiers, will furnish music for a free street dance, where veterans, their families and passersby will unite in the celebration.

MANY ENTRIES IN ARMISTICE PARADE EVENT

Santa Ana patriotic and civic organizations, schools and individuals, will be well represented in the seventeenth annual Orange county Armistice Day celebration to be staged in Anaheim November 11, under the auspices of the Orange County Council of the American Legion with Anaheim post 72 acting as host.

The feature of the day's program will be the parade, starting promptly at 11 a. m. The theme of the parade "Patriotic America," affords a wide scope for float designers and indications are the pageant will be an intensely colorful and patriotic affair.

Stress Patriotic Theme

Because of prevailing international unrest, and radical machinations in this country, Legionnaires are stressing the patriotic theme, and are making every effort to encourage marching units of veterans, patriotic auxiliaries, Boy Scouts and school children, according to Ray E. Smith, general chairman of the committee in charge.

Tentative plans call for a football game at 2:15 p. m. on the Anaheim high school field. Two navy teams are being considered, while two Los Angeles school teams are also prospective competitors.

What promises to be an interesting affair is a contest between some of the finest uniformed drum and bugle corps in the south to be staged under the arc lights of the city ball park diamond at 7 p. m.

Grand Ball Planned

Concluding the day a grand ball will be held at the Elks clubhouse, while a collegiate dance for young folks is planned for the Knights of Pythias hall.

The committee requests those planning to enter floats, and who have not revealed their intentions of their themes, to contact the committee at Armistice Day headquarters at the Anaheim Elks clubhouse.

It is expected that from 75,000 to 100,000 spectators will line the route of march of the parade which will be reviewed in front of the city park on North Lemon street by prominent Legion and civic leaders.

Three Daughters Plan Birthday Observance For Their Father

Staged in the Everett Johnson home, 1057 West Second street, was a happy anniversary affair Saturday night, when three sisters, including Mrs. Johnson, joined in complimenting their father, H. K. Brockett of Newport Beach, on the occasion of his birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Earl Snyder and Mrs. Denver Hyder were co-hostesses at the gay party at which members of a closely bonded little family circle were brought together. They used yellow and lavender chrysanthemums and all the pretty decorations suggesting such happy occasions, and had prepared luscious home-made ice cream and cakes to serve with coffee as the evening drew to a close.

Although born in Illinois, Mr. Brockett has lived in this vicinity since he was four years old, so he is well known throughout Orange county. He and Mrs. Brockett and their son, Peter Brockett, were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. Hyder, for the celebration, together with Mr. Brockett's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Raitt, and his niece and grandniece, Mrs. Elsie Raitt Woodward and her daughter, Miss Jean Woodward.

Party Plans Arranged For Fifty-Fifty Club

With interest whetted because of the postponement in their house-party date, Southern California Fifty-Fifty club members are anticipating the deferred party for Saturday and Sunday, November 16 and 17, in the originally selected setting, the country club at Lake Noyah near Corona.

The familiar black and silver announcements have been forwarded to all members by the club secretary, Ewald Lemcke of Anaheim, and these carry the information of events to be featured at the weekend party. Saturday night will bring the formal dance from 9 o'clock to midnight, Sunday morning breakfast (9:30 o'clock) will be followed by a golf tournament, and party and day's events will culminate with the president's supper at 4 p. m.

Plans for the affair and selection of date were in charge of combined old and new board members, and this fact led to the cancellation of a business meeting to have been held Thursday night with Wayne Harrison, 2131 North Ross street. This meeting had been called to arrange for the party, now perfected.

D. A. R.

Santa Ana chapter, Daughters of American Revolution, was privileged to hear Mrs. John Pfaff of Los Angeles, vice-chairman of national defense through education, as guest speaker in an address on the constitution, at the meeting Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. H. R. Hendrie, 1110 West Washington avenue.

Announcement was made of the Southern California monthly conference to be held November 19 at Mission Inn, Riverside, and reports of the last district meeting at Whittier were heard.

Mrs. Fred Earel and Mrs. Sara Johnston Haddon presided at opposite ends of the tea table, attractive with its orange tapers and harmonizing chrysanthemums in long basket arrangement.

Approximately 30 members were present, with Mrs. Ruth Bowers, Mrs. Gertrude Altuffer, and Miss Alice Dakin, niece of Mrs. Hendrie from South Dakota, attending as guests.

Reid-Phillips Wedding In Costa Mesa Church

Costa Mesa Community church was the scene of one of its prettiest wedding ceremonies last night when vows were exchanged by young people of two well known Mesa families, Miss Jane Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Phillips, and J. Malcolm Reid, son of Mrs. Minnie V. Reid. The day held double significance for the bride, since it marked her birthday anniversary.

Approximately 200 guests attended the ceremony, which was read by the Rev. W. I. Lowe, church pastor. Mrs. Raymond K. Eastman supervised decorations, arranging a charming garden setting with lattice fence and archway studded with pastel-hued asters. Canary birds trilled their merry song throughout the service.

Light was provided by many tapers glowing from candelabra. Mr. Phillips gave his daughter in marriage. She was a lovely bride in her white satin gown, whose sleeves and neckline were finished with hand-forging. She wore a short veil with cap fashioned of white satin flowers. Sweet peas and bouvardia formed her shower bouquet. The gold heirloom bracelet which she wore had been given her by the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Verona Preston, of Costa Mesa.

Sorority Members Are Informed Of Recent Engagement

Adding another to the constantly lengthening list of betrothal announcements, was that of the engagement of Miss Violet Johnson, popular member of Tau Delta Phi, and Wayne Bartholomew, revealed last night as chief feature of interest at a sorority chapter meeting in the clubhouse peacock room.

Miss Chandler had made her home inviting with flowers for the chapter session, which opened with a gay supper party, with each member contributing some special dish to the menu. The table was particularly charming, with an unusual centerpiece of a redwood burl, whose feathery green sprays of foliage were reflected in a mirror plateau upon which it rested. Candles added their soft glow as guests enjoyed the menu.

Covers were laid for the hostesses, Miss Chandler, the Misses Violet Johnson, Betty Vorst, Norma Wilson, Lucille Howell, Alberta Sanford, Frances Miller, Mesdames Robert U. Smith, Kermit Maynard, John S. Taylor, Jr., and George Berry, with her small daughter, Charlene, a sorority mascot.

Immediately after the supper hour, Miss Johnson produced the special gift package which is a feature of each meeting. Through a coincidence, it was won by Mrs. Smith, the chapter's latest bride, formerly Miss Irene Boyer, wedded in late August. When she opened the package, her first discovery was a small card with the names of Miss Johnson and Mr. Bartholomew, and the single significant word, "January."

Miss Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Johnson, 1842 South Parton street, is a graduate of Santa Ana High school and junior college, and was prominent in Moav activities on the Jaycee campus. She is now assistant secretary at Junior college. Her fiancé son of the Clifford I. Bartholomews, 1209 South Sycamore street, likewise graduated from the local high school and junior college, where he was active in the Bachelor's organization and on the football field, and continued his studies at Santa Barbara State college, where his prowess as a football star was accorded recognition. He is now connected with the Tree Sweet Products company.

Famous Works of Art Provide Topic For Jr. Ebels Program

England's famous eighteenth century portraits now in the collection of Huntington Library, San Marino, formed the basis for an informative talk given by Earl Rowland, Los Angeles lecturer, last night at a meeting of Junior Ebels society in the clubhouse peacock room.

Having made an independent study of the whole period covered by the paintings, Rowland was able to point out the significance of the works of art, conditions under which they were painted and their relationship to portraits of England as well as the whole world.

Using stereopticon slides of the paintings, he pointed out technicalities which the casual observer might not notice when viewing the original work of art.

During his talk, Rowland brought out how Sir Joshua Reynolds influenced indirectly the careers of Gainsborough and George Romney. Gainsborough painted his famous Blue Boy soon after Reynolds had made the statement that blue could not dominate a painting successfully. Romney left his wife and family and spent the greater part of his life in solitude, after Reynolds had made the remark that no married man could succeed as an artist. Lady Hamilton's influence on Romney was indicated by Rowland, who screened the famous painting of the English beauty as one of her 45 portraits done by Romney.

The speaker discussed Sir Joshua Reynolds and his famous portrait of Mrs. Sarah Siddons, "The Muse of Tragedy"; Gainsborough, "The most truly sensitive artist of his period," who was successful in using long-handled brushes for his painting, and referred to Gainsborough's "Cottage Door" as the finest bit of color in the Huntington collection. Other portrait painters whom he discussed were Sir Thomas Lawrence, who made 15 portraits of the Duke of Wellington; and who did the famous "Pinkie," "one of the finest works of English art, and one which ranks highly in the art of the world"; Sir Henry Raeburn, Scottish portrait painter; William Hogarth, "the greatest of all English social cartoonists"; Richard Wilson, noted for his landscapes; John Constable and Joseph Turner. Mr. Rowland was introduced by Mrs. Robert Guild of the program committee.

Fruit salad, hot biscuits, candy, coffee and tea were served by the hostess, assisted by her sister, Miss Mary Jean DuBois.

Others present were Mesdames Allan Carstenson, Paul Reynolds, Clyde Higgins, and the Misses Roselind Schilling, Marjorie Berkner, Helen Demetriou, Dorothy Dunbar, Miriam Samuelson and a guest, Mrs. Kenneth Curl.

Contract Club Admits New Member at Its November Session

Receiving members of the Tuesday Contract club yesterday in her home, 1324 Bush street, Mrs. John H. Bower made the dessert hour especially pleasant by grouping guests at a charmingly appointed table where decorative details were in white as a background for brilliant hues of autumn fruits.

Mrs. Alex. Brownridge had sent a basket of exquisite white blossoms to match the many candles used by the hostess, while autumn hued flowers in the living room, were sent by Mrs. E. D. Franson, a former member of the club, and Mrs. Emily Munro. They were aware that the club meeting coincided with the birthday anniversary of a hostess, so had included a spray of gardenias as a special compliment to her.

In contract games of the afternoon, Mrs. Fleetwood Bell and Mrs. Munro made special scores. Mrs. Bower's guests were Mesdames Fleetwood Bell, Alex. Brownridge, C. E. Downie, Fred Earel, A. J. Lasby, W. B. Martin, Emily Munro, J. C. Sexton, C. S. Skirvin, W. B. Williams and Hazel Turner, yesterday admitted to membership in the group.

"My goodness, what an awful sight," said Goldy. "We are all right, but look at our poor pumpkin. It will never fly again." "The birds devoured it, bit by bit, until they simply ruined it. We certainly run into bits of bad luck, now and then." "Oh, well, at least we're safe and sound. I'm glad my feet are on the ground," wee Duncy quickly answered. "Say, where do we go from here?" "This place, I'm sure, is new to me, and not a person do I see. We're on an island that's deserted, 'cept for us, I fear."

'HARMONICS' IS TOPIC OF TALK THIS EVENING

"Harmonics" will be discussed on the fourth of the series of "Armchair Talks on Music" by Leland Auer, instructor of band and orchestra in Santa Ana Junior college, to be broadcast from KREG this evening at 8:30.

This evening's discussion will be the first of two devoted to harmonics. The first talk will deal with the harmonics of stringed instruments and the second one, to be made next week, will concern wind instruments. Highlights of this evening's discussion include the composition of "full rich tones," tone values of light and heavy strings, where to strike a string to produce the greatest number of overtones, why some overtones are not wanted and the theory of the "well-tempered scale" and why we use it.

The entire series of broadcasts will embrace a description and discussion of the instruments of the symphony orchestra and the musical sounds they produce. For those who are interested in music to any degree, and that includes practically everyone, this series of broadcasts made every Wednesday at the same hour, offers a wealth of interesting and educational information.

STORIES IN STAMPS

MEN WHO TAMED THE NORTHWEST

INDIANS roaming the plains of the northwest were curbing the advance of the white man. Horse stealers, murderers, and whisky runners were endangering the progress of peaceful pioneers.

Then, in 1879, a band of 300 men was organized as the Northwest Mounted Police, and advanced into the wild country to restore law and order. Soon, the fame of these men spread before them, and one unruly settlement after another was tamed and rid of its outlaws.

Today, as the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, this famous force patrols some of the most isolated districts of Canada. And it does more than "get its man," as is popularly believed. Its men have traveled thousands of miles to rescue wanderers in the cold north, they have helped in Arctic expeditions, and still make notes on animal and mineral resources, on topography and weather conditions of Canada.

SIGNIFICANCE OF YESTERDAY'S ELECTIONS

One does not gain, from the headlines in newspapers, the nature of the facts as he gets them by reading the news stories carefully, sometimes even those sent out from unfriendly sources.

For instance, the story of a great "smashing" victory in New York is hardly, after all, what one would call such a "smashing" victory when one considers the facts carefully.

In New York, for example, the assembly districts are so "gerrymandered" that it is well nigh impossible to elect anything but a Republican majority in the assembly. The Democrats had a majority of four in the last assembly. Now this "sweeping" victory enabled the Republicans to gain only nine seats, so it does give them a majority.

Here at the close of the news story, however, there is this significant sentence: "Despite loss of the assembly, Democrats still maintain a majority in the Senate and control the executive offices."

Then another great victory is that the Republicans carried Philadelphia. The only singular thing about this is that sentiment has reached the point where the city of Philadelphia was actually in danger of a Democratic victory.

If Philadelphia couldn't be carried by the Republican party, Herbert Hoover might just as well support Upton Sinclair. Even at that, as figures go, the contest was close in Philadelphia.

From the reports of those who can see no good in the administration, a victory anywhere for the Republicans was due to "national issues being injected into the campaign." Wherever the Democrats won, it was "purely a local political contest, without any national significance."

Something little short of the miraculous is happening in the United States. The country is returning to prosperity with a Democratic administration in power.

It seems the Republican politicians, after failing in their efforts to prove that we are not getting back to the days of prosperity, are now insisting that the administration has been trying to head off the prosperous days.

It is rather amusing. The party politicians of any party always have taken credit for bringing or sustaining prosperity. Even though the parties have had little more to do with it than the Hottentots, yet for purposes of getting votes, it was valuable propaganda.

These politicians who know psychology have a very wholesome fear of prosperity being under a "full head of steam," with a party in power which is not furnishing them with the public plunder. We believe some Republicans have a better program than Mr. Roosevelt, but these are not the Republicans who are in control of the organization.

In order to have a better program and to win nationally before the people, we are inclined to believe that the Republican leaders see that they will have to give some power of leadership to that element in the party which, as a matter of fact, they are more opposed to than they are to the Democrats themselves.

WE WONDER WHY THEY SPLIT

In discussing the statements of the radio priest, Father Coughlin of Detroit, in yesterday's paper, we called attention to the identity of interests, apparent in their utterances, that existed between Father Coughlin and William Randolph Hearst.

They have agreed and each has praised the other, in such a singular and enthusiastic manner, that it did not seem that it could all have been mere chance.

But we desire to correct one statement, where we suggested that Father Coughlin and Mr. Hearst agreed on all things touching the administration. They do not, or at least they did not yesterday. They may have come to some agreement today.

Father Coughlin very cleverly was confounding the President's neutrality insistence as practically the same thing as the support of the sanctions of the League of Nations. Hearst, who is just as "religiously" against the League of Nations as Father Coughlin, does endorse the President's attitude on neutrality and of trading with the belligerent nations.

In an interview given out in Omaha yesterday, in which he took occasion again to roundly criticize the administration on almost everything, he made an exception on one thing. He said: "But he is right on the neutrality stand. That's based on American principles."

Even Hearst's endorsement of the President's attitude on neutrality has not shaken us in our belief that the President is right on this issue.

We still believe that the President's position is not only right, but that it expresses the views of a vast majority of the people.

In the light of Mr. Hearst's general attitude, on what he alleges to be "American principles," war and all the rest, we have our suspicions concerning the reason he supports the President in his neutrality stand.

This is in spite of the fact that Mr. Hearst is so strangely unerringly wrong on public questions that this must be the "one exception that proves the rule."

MARSHAL LYANTEY

One of the great heroes of France, Marshal Lyantey, is to be laid to rest in Morocco, in the heart of the country where he achieved so much for France.

The body of Marshal Lyantey, France's great pro-consul of Morocco, has rested in the Nancy cathedral since his death last year. Borne on a French cruiser and accompanied by British and Spanish squadrons, his body was carried across the Mediterranean with all the well-conceived pomp and ceremony of a grateful people.

French people are proud of Napoleon I, but they are also prone to recall that he left France a nation smaller in territory and poorer in resources than when he assumed command, and as for prestige, he left her surrounded by enemies and torn by internal dissension.

But the great peace-time marshal, Lyantey, took command of an unruly territory, pacified the natives, converted the territory into a valuable colony and when the evil days of the great World war came upon the nation, several hundred thousand of black soldiers fought valiantly on the side of France.

The great marshal was perhaps the ablest of modern colonizers. Known far and wide for his pacific attitude, he had the courage and the patience to proceed by peaceful means, using force only upon rare occasions.

During the World war, his prestige was so great that France was able to withdraw her colonial troops while Lyantey ruled the semi-barbaric tribes.

While the first great marshal sleeps on the banks of the river Seine, in the very heart of the nation he ruled, another great marshal sleeps in the midst of the African empire where his magic name and deeds thrill and awe the natives, even as the magic sunshine perpetually falls upon the bier of Napoleon I.

France honors those whom she believes are truly great, whether it be the unknown soldier, Napoleon or Marshal Lyantey, with a dramatic fitness of things that is so entirely unique and proper as to suggest a dramatic genius superior to other peoples.

KINDLY JUSTICE

Yesterday a Carmel, California, jury convicted a woman of lighting a bonfire without a permit and the judge fined her $15.00.

Feeling sorry for the woman, the members of the jury then proceeded to raise the amount of the fine among themselves and the spectators in the courtroom and sent the woman on her way rejoicing or perhaps puzzled about the whole procedure.

The incident reminds us of a judge who fined a bosom friend $5.00 for drunkenness.

Turning to the judge, the sobered man asked "his honor" if he could borrow $5.00.

Whereupon the judge told the clerk to suspend the fine as the state might just as well lose the money as the judge.

While occasionally some such episode warms the cockles of our heart, so that we almost believe that we are approaching some real kindly justice, unfortunately these incidents are so rare that their occurrence makes real news.

Warning for Us in Hitler Effort to Falsify History

San Francisco Chronicle

While he is professing to back up on religion, Hitler is still moving in on history. And that is the more serious warning against Hitlerizing America. For we shall probably never have anything but eccentrics, like the Ku Klux Klan and the Silver Shirts, who even wish to interfere with the freedom of religion in America, but we have much more responsible and formidable elements which wish to Hitlerize history.

The newly formed Reich Institute for the History of the New Germany had its first meeting the other day, at which Dr. Walter Frank, its president, announced that the history of the past was to be remade, by force, for Nazi usefulness in the future. Nonconformity, he said, was "a rebellion of brazen slaves, which must be beaten down with a whip." History must be rewritten to make history—that is, to be an instrument of Nazi propaganda. The scholars who have labored to collect the documentary sources of history must be suppressed. "I am determined to end suddenly and with a ruthless hand such orgies of learned impotence."

This, only a little less intolerantly, is just what our censors of 200 per cent Americanism undertook to do to the textbooks of high school history, following the war. Even they did not dare invade university history, as some of their successors are now threatening. The newest movement of American Hitlerization would do just that. It would compel American historians to write, and American students to accept, a version of American history based, not on the facts of the past, but on their purpose of making over a standardized citizenship for the future.

If we can take Hitler, in his attempted regimentation of things of the spirit, as the supreme warning of what not to do, he will have been useful at least to us. How long his own people wish to stand for the shackling of their souls is their business.

Cleveland in Hall of Fame

San Francisco Chronicle

The striking choice in this year's elections to the Hall of Fame is Grover Cleveland. William Penn and Simon Newcomb hardly call for comment. One takes them for granted as natural to be added to the list. But Grover Cleveland is something else.

We do not mean to infer that Grover Cleveland does not belong. We think he does. He is fully entitled to take his place with the nine Presidents who have so far been admitted to the Hall. The roll now includes Washington, Lincoln, Grant, Jefferson, John Adams, John Quincy Adams, Madison, Jackson, Monroe and Cleveland.

With Cleveland there is a real suggestion of drama. Grover Cleveland ended his first term as President the most unpopular man in the United States, excoriated on all sides. But when, after the lapse of three years, the Democratic National Convention met, Cleveland, though not a candidate, was nominated by acclamation and was later triumphantly elected.

Thus it was proved that a democracy, after going all wrong on a man and doing him great injustice, can perceive its error and do justice. In this case the American people came to realize they had misread Cleveland's character. What they had disliked as wrongheaded obstinacy they saw was merely honesty that could not compromise with wrong. Cleveland's greatness lay in his character. He takes a fitting place in the Hall of Fame as a shining American example of complete integrity.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

(Policemen in Honolulu are made to take courses in public speaking before they can hold down jobs.)

The Honolulu Traffic cop,
I lately have been told,
Must be polite
And erudite,
Not stern, severe and cold.
He has to learn to self-express.
He can't get on the force
And don a uniform, unless
He's had a language course.

The words and phrases he employs
Must not be grim and stern,
He must not cry,
"Keep goin' guy"
In tones that sting and burn.
He merely says, "Excuse me, sir,
I faint must set you right.
It is a blunder, as it were,
To pass a bright red light."

I wish we had that brand of cops
Upon our city streets.
They are a kind
We never find
Patrolling urban beats.
But if we had them, I admit
Between just me and you,
That they'd be utterly unfit
To shove the traffic through.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

LEADERSHIP IN DEMOCRACY

In 1936 we shall again face the problem of selecting a leadership for American democracy.

John Stuart Mill once wrote: "The ideal of democracy is that the people shall be masters, but employ servants more capable than themselves."

When they do, democracy is secure.

When they do not, mankind enters a phase of dictatorship as now prevails over so much of the earth's surface.

I find one of the most gifted pamphleteers of communism writing as follows:

"The only possible safeguard against oppression is universal democratic power. That protection against gross social oppressions and violence is the function of democracy, and the ground for its necessity. It is the reason why it has come into being, its function is not to settle vexed questions of opinion."

So far this sounds like good John Stuart Mill doctrine. Let the people be masters, but let them choose and follow leaders more capable than themselves.

But then this gifted pamphleteer of communism goes on to say:

"Democratic liberty has been sought as an end in itself. The victory of democratic principles has bestowed equal liberty on privileged power and its victims, on the valid opinions which we suppressed by tyranny and on the irrational tyranny which oppressed them. Democratic liberty, like the rain from heaven, has fallen alike upon the just and the unjust. The liberty of every person and the liberty of every opinion are not good in themselves. The liberty of a lunatic is not a social good. Yet this is the kind of social good which democracy has established in its blind devotion to the fetish of liberty as such."

This is the attitude towards democratic liberty that lies back of every dictatorship in Europe. And the one thing that has produced fertile soil for the sprouting of such criticism has been the laxity with which democracy so often chooses its leaderships.

And then Fascist or Communist build his justification for the forcible assumption of a dictatorial leadership. And he resorts to the cleverest of clever arguments to justify his forcible assumption of power. I find this pamphleteer, for instance, saying this:

"Democracy itself has never been established by democratic methods. Democratic liberty has been established by brutal force, by violence, and the threat of violence. Democratic liberty is the result of repudiation of democratic methods."

There is a surface sense in which this is true. One democracy after another arose out of the forcible overthrow of a tyrant. But that does not justify the violent overthrow of democracy itself, unless democracy degenerates into a tyranny, and that it will never do if it pays enough attention to the selection of its leaderships.

AVOID DIRECT TEACHING

When you want to teach a child something, try to remember that he can take but a little at a time, and be content with a little. An earnest mother took her little son for a walk in the fields. The place was new to the little boy from the city and he was all eyes and ears, but silent.

"See the little bird, dear. Look well at it. That's a chickadee. Remember just how he looks. What did I say his name was, dear?"

"Hm? What's that? I don't know, mother. Something about a bird."

"But, my dear, listen when I tell you something. That was a chickadee, and now you won't know him again when you see him."

"Yes I will, mother. I saw him distinctly and I heard him call chickadee dee dee. I knew who he was."

"And see, dear. Look how this fern is rolled up. Isn't it a queer fuzzy thing? It is the fiddle fern. Fiddlehead fern. Those clouds gathering are cumulus. Did you get that word? What kind of cloud?"

"Thunderheads I call them. I guess I'll go climb that tree."

"That is an elm tree. Notice its vase form. There are many elms in—"

But the victim had fled. "Isn't it too bad that when children have the chance to learn things they don't take advantage of it?" said the anxious parent sadly as her long-suffering son escaped in the distance.

Direct teaching of this kind annoys a child. When he finds himself in a new situation every sense is alive. He is registering all sorts of new sensations, storing away associations that will return to reward him another day. He does not want to be told the names of things nor have his nose pushed into them. He wants to be left alone for a time so that he can find himself in the new world. Then he will begin to ask questions.

I have seen well-meaning people spoil the circus for the children. Instead of allowing them to lose themselves in the riot of color and sound and smell they tried to teach the children about the animals. Then instilled information.

I remember a reader I hated when I went to school. It was called "Information Reader," and it had no stories. The pictures were quill, drab things. It told you where apples came from and how many barrels were exported and to what countries. It told you where iron was made, how salt was made, and the like. But never a hint of life about the whole business. Just edifying information, and it never stuck as far as I was concerned. Direct teaching of facts is poor fare for the eager mind of a child.

Let the child look and feel and sense things. When he is ready he will ask questions so fast and so furiously you will have to seek refuge in the encyclopedia. The children always tell you what they saw and heard the day or so after they experienced it. Their minds have had time to assimilate the matter and that is the time for your informing services. But it is a mistake to mix impressions with information. A bit is enough. The child's mind will do the rest.
